BARROWS SHOOT WAY TO LIBERTY WHEN CORNERED

Three of Thirteen Raiding Missouri Officers Are Wounded

MAD AUTO DASH MADE

Two Men and Woman Break Through Cordon Under Heavy Fire

PLATTE CITY, Mo., July 20.—(U.P.)—Two men tentatively identified as the notorious desperadoes, Clyde and Ivy (Buck) Barrow, blazed a path of machine gun fire through a cordon of officers around their cabin near here early Thursday and escaped.

Three of the squad of 13 raiding officers sustained minor wounds.

There was evidence one of the fugitives was gravely wounded. He stumbled repeatedly as the two men and a woman companion burst from the cabin in the face of withering gunfire. They were able to enter their automobile parked near the building and fled north on U. S. highway 71.

Sheriff Holt Coffey of Platte county received a bullet wound in the neck. His son, Clarence, was nicked in the right arm and another bullet grazed his cheek. George Highfill, Jackson county (Kansas City) deputy sheriff, was hit in the knee.

Acting on a tip the occupants of the cabin were the Texas desperadoes wanted for murder in Missouri, Sheriff Coffey arranged to raid the place. The men and woman moved into the structure, part of a tourist camp at the juncture of trunk highways, Tuesday.

Jackson county deputies and Capt. William Baxter of the state highway patrol augmented Coffey's own forces. With the officers deployed around the tourist camp, Coffey approached the cabin and shouted he wanted to talk with the occupants.

The woman answered she would open the door as soon as she was dressed. A few minutes later, she shouted that the men were on the other side of the double cabin.

As the sheriff sounded a final warning, machine gun fire burst from the cabin. Bullets from the officers' guns raked the walls. A machine gun in the hands of the Jackson county deputies jammed and operated properly only after the fugitives were safely away.

The men and woman burst from the door. One of the men fell several times and reached the nearby automobile only with the aid of his com-

MOVES LAUNCHED TO OBTAIN BEER

Special Legislative Sessions Loom In Arkansas, Alabama

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 20.—(AP)—On the heels of their approval of repeal of the national prohibition law, movements to legalize beer gained [illegible] in Arkansas and Alabama [illegible]y.

[illegible]rnor J. M. Futrell, interpret[illegible] Arkansas' vote for repeal as an [illegible]ession for beer and light wines, issued a statement indicating a call for a special session of the legislature to legalize the 3.2 per cent beverages awaited only agreement by legislators on terms of a bill.

Representatives George A. Sossman, W. C. Taylor and Turner Granade of Mobile county in Alabama announced they would support a movement for a payless special session in that state to legalized beer. Sheriff J. F. Hawkins of Jefferson county said a movement was under way there.

At Montgomery, however, Governor B. M. Miller, known as a personal and political prohibitionist, said he had "given no consideration to a special session call." He declined to comment further.

Governor Futrell said he believed it the duty of "public servants to carry

Texas Solon's Daughter Has Marriage Annulled

HOLLYWOOD, July 20.—(U.P.)—Janet Sheppard Graves, daughter of Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, has had her marriage to Wilbur A. Graves annulled, it was revealed here Thursday.

Mrs. Graves identified herself as Mrs. W. A. Graves when she appeared before Superior Judge Minor Moore and charged her husband with repudiating a pre-nuptial agreement by refusing to allow her to become a mother.

The tall, dark-haired beauty came to Hollywood to seek a career in motion pictures shortly after she and Graves were married in New York last November 25. Their romance started while both were students at a dramatic art academy in New York.

TIDE TURNING IN KIDNAPING GAME

Abduction Effort Fails in Philadelphia as Member of Prominent Firm Battles Two Men; One of Pair Wounds Him

(By Associated Press)

The tide appeared to be turning against the kidnaping racket Thursday.

A complete failure in an apparent attempt at kidnaping was scored against abductors in Philadelphia, because the victim—Frank A. McClatchy, 56-year-old member of a prominent real estate firm—dared to put up a fight.

McClatchy, however, was shot and seriously wounded when he was seized by two men, who tried to tie his hands behind him with a piece of rope, while they were about to step into a house they said they wished to buy. McClatchy jerked himself free and struck one of the men in the nose and kicked the other.

One of the assailants drew a pistol and fired. McClatchy was shot in the chest. A passing motorist took him to a hospital where he was given an even chance to recover. Philadelphia police believe the assailants, who escaped on foot, originally had planned to kidnap McClatchy's wealthy brother, John H. McClatchy for ransom.

Meanwhile police in St. Louis began rounding up suspects in the case of August Luer, well-to-do Alton, Ill., banker, recently liberated by kidnapers, while authorities of Madison county in which Alton is situated mapped plans for an anti-gangster war. William "Bad-eye" Smith, described by police as a former southern Illinois gangster, was one of three suspects seized for questioning.

High hope for the safe return of 24-year-old John J. O'Connell, kidnaped national guard lieutenant, was

ABOUT THE TOWN

By H. H. B.

Russel Mecum, Wisner druggist, is a talented artist, being especially skilled in portraiture and caricature. Monroe people who visit his town are often surprised and interested to observe chalk sketches, displaying much realism, on the plate glass store front. The artist is at present at the Chicago Fair and he is enjoying himself by sending postal cards back to his Louisiana friends. C. H. (Red) Foster, Jr., of Wisner, the other day was one of the numerous ones to receive a message from the windy city. Here is how it was addressed: "(Sketch of the facial characteristics of Mr. Foster), WISNER, LA." It was promptly delivered and so were a number of others. But while that plan may serve as successful identification in Franklin parish, Louisiana, we have doubts lest the same idea utilized might fail in such cities say, as New York, Chicago or Philadelphia!

We have just heard of a real mean man. We won't call his name but he is in the dairy business. He had a suspicion that friend spouse was extracting money from his trousers' pocket during the hours of his repose. Thus he resolved to lay plans in accordance. That night he fixed up a mouse trap and put in the pocket with his loose change. In the middle of the night he heard a piercing outcry. Friend wife's finger was caught in the contraption! But we still think he deserves to be classed with the meanest men in town. . . . A chap down state opines that ushers ought to be shot. Seems too radical for practical application. Ushers are humans after all. Who can't recall when one envied ushers and wondered if fate would ever cause one's selection for some important function. And then one's chance came and one got all he wanted of it. In recent years, ushers at public meetings are becoming almost superflous, and even churches are getting few in number that require these attendants to care for the crowds.

AMERICANS FIGHT FOR TRUCE IDEA AT LONDON MEET

Opposition Encountered In British and European Countries

LONDON, July 20.—(AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull was described in high American circles Thursday as making a vigorous fight behind the scenes of the world economic conference to preserve the general principles of President Roosevelt's truce on tariff changes.

Strong opposition was said to have been encountered in British and European gold standard countries, and American adherence is expected to be continued only with reservations allowing for such advances in tariff schedules as may be necessary under the recovery and farm acts.

Hull, chief of the American delegation, is determined, however, that the truce idea shall not be permitted to be discarded. After being advanced by the American administration, the armistice was made effective at the beginning of the conference July 12 and was to be extended through the period of the parley.

Conference leaders were said authoritatively to have determined to form a permanent body to keep the conference alive in London during the recess which begins July 27.

This body, it was understood, will

TRUCK OF BEER STOLEN BY TRIO

Driver Is Held Captive In Wood While Loot Is Taken Away

A bold robbery and kidnaping occurred near Choudrant, shortly before 11 o'clock Thursday morning when the driver of a truck of the Ouachita Candy company, Bill Ford, was forced at the point of a gun to leave the car and was conveyed to a nearby wood where he was kept captive for some time by a bandit.

Two other men made off with the truck, which was loaded with 100 cases of beer.

Ford left the local plant of the Ouachita Candy company, a short time before the robbery, and was bound for Junction City, La., at the time.

Only fragmentary information had been received up to noon Thursday, but Sheriff Milton Coverdale and members of the sheriff's department were working on the case.

It was the first hi-jacking in this vicinity since the return of legalized beer.

Removal of Standard Oil Man Requested By Group

AUSTIN, Tex., July 20.—(AP)—The independent Petroleum association of Texas, through its vice president, Bailey W. Hardy, Thursday telegraphed President Roosevelt requesting the removal of Walter C. Teagle, head of the Standard Oil company, from the national industrial recovery board.

DRY LAW REPEAL BY CHRISTMAS IS NOW WETS' GOAL

Tennessee Is Balloting Thursday On Twenty-First Amendment

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT

Voters of Oregon to Vote On National Prohibition Friday

(By United Press)

The campaign to repeal the 18th amendment by Christmas, advancing rapidly on the momentum of a series of 18 victories and no defeats, Thursday entered Tennessee, another state of the so-called "solidly dry" south where a 19th victory seemed probable.

Oregon passes on the issue Friday and there was the strongest likelihood that it would become the 20th state to approve ratification of the 21st (repeal) amendment.

Thirty-six states must approve before national prohibition is ended. If all states in which elections will be held between now and November 7, vote wet, repealists will be one short of their goal. A special session of the Utah legislature received a proposal that the state hold its repeal election November 7 from Governor Blood Wednesday. The Virginia legislature meets early in August.

It was most likely that if not Utah or Virginia, either Louisiana, Oklahoma, or Montana would hold an election this year. If any one of these states voted wet it would provide repealists with the 36th state needed for ratification.

In Arizona, dry forces admitted defeat by failing to file nominating petitions for dry delegates to the

NATION TO ASSIST IN STAMPING OUT KIDNAP MENACE

Federal Government to Act First, Ask Questions Afterward

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—The federal government is going to go after kidnapers first and ask questions afterward.

Until this assertion came Thursday from Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general heading the anti-racketeer move, there had been some doubt. Belief had been expressed that the federal government could take no part in a kidnaping unless in some way or another it crossed state lines or violated specific federal statutes.

But this was Keenan's answer Thursday to a question about that: "We don't know whether a kidnaping case comes under federal jurisdiction until we have found the man.

"We are going after them. We will find out after we have found our men, with the aid of state authorities, if it is a federal or a state case."

PRES. ROOSEVELT KEEPS WATCH ON U. S. EXCHANGES

Executive May Act Against Them If Plans Are Endangered

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is watching silently and closely the ups and downs of the security and commodity exchanges. If his recovery plans are endangered, his supporters believe he will not hesitate to take any necessary, and feasible, action.

But there had been no indication from him Thursday whether he thought exchange prices were high or low enough, or whether Wednesday's big slumps should be considered particularly bothersome.

Consequently, there was much talk about how closely, if at all, the telegram Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, sent Wednesday night to the presidents of the New York Stock and Chicago Grain Exchanges might represent Mr. Roosevelt's attitude.

Thomas said he had not talked with the president about the messages, which warned that "unless a rule is adopted and published establishing a reasonable amount of depreciation in any one session, a campaign of reform will immediately take shape with possible results either closing exchanges entirely or placing same under government supervision."

The Oklahoman added that Wednesday's activity "demonstrates the absolute necessity for immediate adoption of rules" limiting the loss in any one day.

Frequently, when asked about rises in the stock and commodity markets, officials have said that might be in-

ROGERS HAS HIS SAY

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 20.—I guess Dempsey's got a cheerful little earful. I guess Balbo (the only young man that ever looked well in whiskers) is flying somewhere. I guess the photographers to the London conference are breaking up all the plates they exposed there. I guess Alabama and Arkansas voted to show their natives there was Bourbon as well as corn, that all whisky was not white. I guess our great little Oklahoma flier is ahead of his record. I guess California (as usual to be the biggest) passed the highest sales tax rate of the whole 48. I say I guess all these things for they are not in any of the papers; nothing can get in a paper when Sister Aimee is in, so we are all practically isolated from the world for the next couple of weeks.

GERMANY, VATICAN REACH AN ACCORD

VATICAN CITY, July 20.—(U.P.)—Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen of Germany, and Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, Thursday signed a treaty between Germany and the Vatican.

Von Papen flew from Berlin for the signing ceremony, which occurred at 11 a. m.

The treaty establishes the rights of the Roman Catholic church in Germany, and accords it equality with other religions.

Machine Politics Make Victim Of Shreveport Charity Hospital

While State Executives Get High Pay, Hospital Staff Must Wait

This is the thirty-first of a series of articles on assessments, taxation and the costs of government in Louisiana. The author, from long experience in public affairs, is thoroughly familiar with the subject and his purpose is to tell in simple language that all may understand how the state and its agencies handle the huge volume of funds derived from a greater variety of taxes, licenses, etc., than any other state has.

The Shreveport charity hospital is among the state's most serviceable institutions. It is one of two state supported havens for free treatment of the injured and ailing. Located in the extreme northwest corner of the state, its accident wards draw more or less extensively, but by no means eagerly upon abutting areas in south Arkansas and east Texas.

Generally speaking, Louisiana institutions are for Louisianians. But how can shattered and bleeding accident victims be turned away from hospital doors which constitute their only hope? In both New Orleans and Shreveport treatment of alien sufferers applying for admission has for many years been a pressing and an unsolved problem. Proportionately, because of its geographical position, the Shreveport charity hospital finds the alien question more vital than does the New Orleans free refuge for the sick.

Yet, it is indisputable fact that while not a single state department in the new capitol building at Baton Rouge failed to draw its full salary and maintenance appropriation during the past troubled fiscal year, the Shreveport charity hospital, which treats an average of 550 patients per day, was not so fortunate.

The supervisor of public accounts and the Louisiana tax commission, and the governor, and the secretary of state, and the state treasurer, and all of the others in which patronage is a prime factor, were paid in full. Not so the Shreveport charity hospital. At the same time that the supervisor was increasing her revenues and payrolls beyond precedent or reason, she was having one of her experienced auditors instructing the Shreveport hospital officials in the delicate task of living on reduced rations.

Close Relatives of Long-Allen Administration Appear On Payroll

The general appropriation bill of 1932 carried appropriations of $265,880 for 1932-33 and $246,700 for 1933-34 for the Shreveport charity hospital. Yet in December last, employes of that institution, including Dr. E. L. Sanderson, superintendent, received pay for October and parts of salary due for July, August and September. The maintenance funds actually given the institution did not permit of operation and salary payments, too.

Although dedicated to the service of humanity, the Shreveport charity hospital has not been permitted to escape the contagion of machine politics during the Long-Allen regime in Louisiana. Many of its workers are appointed on a bisis of practical poli-

Johnson Aims to Increase Office Workers' Purchasing Power

One Sets Minimum Wage at $15 and Maximum Week at 40 Hours

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—A warning to all industries that a crisis is faced within the next 30 to 60 days in bringing the country's purchasing power to a parity with rising prices was issued Thursday by Hugh S. Johnson, industrial recovery administrator, as he opened public hearings on the code proposed for the workmen's coat and suit industry.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The national recovery administration plan for a voluntary and blanket agreement of employers to raise wages and shorten working hours is aimed particularly at increasing the purchasing power of the "white collar" classes, the United Press learned Thursday.

Administrator Hugh S. Johnson has put the plan into virtually final form. Its announcements awaits only the formal approval of President Roosevelt. Johnson said he expected to place it before the president Thursday or Friday.

Details of the program were closely guarded, but the United Press learned that it proposes:

BOEUF LANDS ARE DECLARED SAFER BY LYTLE BROWN

Riley J. Wilson Moves to Get Federal Bank Ruling Changed

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(Special)—Henry Morgenthau, farm credit administrator, Thursday had before him a letter from Major General Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, stating that farm lands in Boeuf basin were safer now from the flood menace than at any time in the past.

Brown's letter was presented by Congressman Riley J. Wilson, Ruston, in support of his protest against the recent decision of the federal land bank at New Orleans to make no loans on farm lands in Boeuf basin which have been designated as floodways in the Jadwin plan.

The ruling has operated to deny loans to farmers of Catahoula, Franklin, Richland, Morehouse and several other parishes in northeastern Louisiana.

Obtaining the letter of assurance from General Brown was another step in Congressman Wilson's fight to obtain relief from the bank ruling. Earlier in the week, he had called

Immediate Release of U. S. Citizens From Prison Ordered

PALMA, Mallorca, July 20.—(AP)—Five American prisoners held here without bond for a month and a half because they allegedly attacked a civil guard, were granted bail Thursday and were ordered released.

Manuel Azana, premier and war minister of Spain, cabled the military authorities here ordering the immediate release of the Americans. He took this action after a lengthy conference with United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers in Madrid.

It was learned that following his conversation with the premier Mr. Bowers immediately visited Foreign Minister De Los Rios in the capital.

The premier's orders were not made public here by the military authorities, but the news came from other sources in Madrid and a large crowd of Americans and Mallorcans gathered about the prison, which formerly was a Capuchin monastery. The crowd was prepared for a rousing celebration when the prisoners were actually set free.

GLOBE-CIRCLING FLIER IS AHEAD OF FORMER TIME

Lead of 30 Hours and 16 Minutes Held By Oklahoma Aviator

TAKES BUT BRIEF REST

Destination of Birdman, Nome Or Fairbanks, Is Not Known

SEATTLE, Wash., July 20.—(AP)—Wiley Post, Oklahoma round-the-world flier passed over Nome, Alaska at 7:30 a. m. Nome time (1:30 p. m. eastern standard time), the U. S. army signal corps was advised by its station there.

MOSCOW, July 20.—(AP)—Wiley Post, American globe-girdling aviator, took off from Khabarovsk, Siberia, for the North American continent Thursday with a lead of 30 hours and 16 minutes over the record he and Harold Gatty set in 1931.

He refueled his plane at Khabarovsk, enjoyed a meal at which he refused to take any wine, and sped toward Alaska despite weather reports of thunderstorms ahead.

The stocky daring Oklahoman arrived at the eastern Siberian town at 3:45 a. m. Thursday, Moscow time (7:45 p. m., Wednesday, E. S. T.), from Rukhlovo, 700 miles away, and was off again at 5:58 a. m. (9:58 p. m., E. S. T.), taking just two hours, 13 minutes for refueling his plane, the Winnie Mae.

His haste eclipsed the speed of communication facilities, and for several hours news of his takeoff from Rukhlovo and arrival at the jumping-off place was lacking.

His relentless pace, even in the face of almost complete exhaustion, was occasioned by his intense desire to better the mark he made in 1931 with Harold Gatty over much the same route.

He and Gatty were 141 hours, 4 minutes out of New York when they started the transoceanic hop from Khabarovsk; Post alone had an elapsed time at that point of only 113 hours, 48 minutes.

Post had seen his advantage whittled down to only 42 minutes because of rain and fog that he encountered on the trip from Moscow to Novosibirsk, Siberia, and later from Irkutsk to Rukhlovo, but he increased it by the fast flight to Khabarovsk and the fact he stayed there so short a time, whereas he and Gatty were grounded at Khabarovsk about a day.

SPECIAL SESSION SOON, SAYS SOLON

Report of Tax Reform Group Taking Shape, Burgess States

BATON ROUGE, La., July 20.—(AP)—Chairman J. Porter Burgess of the Louisiana tax reform commission Thursday said the commission would render an early report on state taxation relief proposals for enactment at a special legislative session at which national prohibition repeal action would also be suggested.

The tax reform commission chairman expressed opinion that the proposed special session should be held "by January" to permit submission of constitutional amendments he said would be necessary to carry the proposals into effect to the electorate in November, 1934, and to set up machinery for a state referendum on repeal of the eighteenth prohibition amendment.

Burgess declined to divulge nature of the commission's recommendation's prior to issuance of the report, which he said was being presently drafted.

He withheld prediction of probable date of the report's release, but said it would be "soon."

The report, Burgess said, will be of preliminary nature, and will not convey the commission's full findings as result of its study, not yet completed, of Louisiana's tax structure.

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—Judge Rufus E. Foster, veteran jurist of the United States circuit court of appeals here, has been formally named as re-employment director for Louisiana and will leave here at the week-end to attend a regional conference on the re-employment program in Kansas City.

"Until I return from this conference, I will not be able to formulate any plans," he said.

STATE CONFERENCE ON CHILD WELFARE IS TO BE HELD

Local Persons Plan to Attend Meet In Shreveport

Monroe people interested in juvenile court affairs are planning to attend the state meet in Shreveport on October 18 and lasting through to October 21, of the Louisiana conference for social betterment. The president of the organization is Judge S. C. Fullilove of the Caddo juvenile court.

The meeting will bring together a large number of persons interested in child welfare from throughout the state, it was said. John B. Fournet, lieutenant governor, has accepted an invitation to attend the conference and preside at the opening session, while invitations have been forwarded to other well-known Louisianians, including Senator John H. Overton and state officials.

Judge Charles L. Chute of New York, executive director of the National Probation association and an authority on juvenile matters, and Dr. Harriett S. Daggert, professor of law, Louisiana State university, will be among the speakers on the program.

The sessions of the conference will be devoted to discussions of problems relating to child welfare, particularly the proposed children's code which contains provisions for the expansion of the juvenile court system in the state.

destination in Alaska, Nome or Fairbanks. It was considered most likely, however, that Fairbanks was his objective.

Shortly before reaching Rukhlovo the Winnie Mae brushed some tree tops, because fog forced him to fly close to the ground, but nevertheless, he made a perfect landing despite the danger. He was very tired on arrival there, but he decided to forego the much needed rest in favor of gaining time.

Anxiety was felt for his safety at that point, for he was long overdue at Blagoveshchensk. He had announced a plan, however, of going beyond the latter place if weather conditions cleared up.

General Italo Balbo, who brought his squadron of 24 Italian seaplanes from Chicago to New York Wednesday, flew to Washington Thursday and lunched with President Roosevelt.

Jimmie Mattern, whose 'round-the-world plane was wrecked in Siberia, was ready to fly to Nome, Alaska, with a soviet aviator. The latter was reported to have landed at Anadyr, where Mattern has been staying, but the take-off for Nome depended on weather conditions.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are still at Cartwright, Labrador, where dense fog has prevented them from making survey flights.

Unfavorable weather prompted two French fliers, Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, to postpone from Thursday until Friday a proposed flight from New York to the Persian Gulf.

'Reading Room' Now Latest Feature For Atkinson Playground

As an innovation, Atkinson playground, in charge of Miss Eleona Brinsmade and Miss Marion Granberry, is installing a "reading room" for the youngsters. It is proposed to have a small library of books and especially magazines for the boys and girls to read.

Then there are to be games of checkers and dominoes and other diversions which are ranked as "quiet games."

Many children participate in baseball, croquet and other sports but there are still others who delight in reading a book or magazine or engaging in a quiet domino game, and it is the function of the playground to meet the requirements of boys and girls of varying tastes.

A number of magazines have been donated, and still more are required. Such magazines as "Field and Stream", "American Boy," "Popular Mechanics" are especially desired, no matter how old the number may be.

There is a need for several old tables, even if same may be broken so as to have no legs. Same can be repaired by some of the handy boys at the playground, and these tables are much in demand for those who seek to play dominoes or checkers, as there is no such equipment provided at present.

Anyone who has old magazines, of the nature indicated, or old tables that can be used, is asked to call the municipal recreation office, and a car will be sent to make the collection. A decided service will be rendered by any who are able to assist in this manner.

Mrs. Walters Conducts Curb Market On Catalpa

A curb market of interest is being conducted by Mrs. W. C. Walters at 419 Catalpa street and also in the 500 block of this street. A capacious space has been equipped with stalls and many from the country drive in there daily to dispose of their fruits and vegetables.

Ever since it was opened, the new market has proved increasingly popular with those who seek fresh vegetables and other produce direct from the farm and at prices that are attractive.

Mrs. Walters asks the interested public to call and make an inspection of the place and she says she feels assured that one visit will be resultant in many more being made during the summer months.

state's ratification convention. The election August 8, will be an empty gesture with only wet candidates on the ballot.

Fred A. Victor, of the New York Anti-Saloon league, admitted the 18th amendment would be repealed. He was the first prominent dry leader to acknowledge defeat. Bishop James Cannon, Jr., conceded that "our present campaign may finally be lost."

TENNESSEE BALLOTS ON REPEAL QUESTION

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 20.—(AP)—With each side claiming victory by a landslide, Tennessee ballotted Thursday on the proposal to erase prohibition from the federal constitution.

Eighteen states in a row have voted for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, including Arkansas and Alabama, sister states of Tennessee in the deep south that long has been regarded as a Gibraltar of prohibition.

Declaring the results of Tuesday's elections in Arkansas and Alabama have exerted a "tremendous influence" in favor of repeal in Tennessee, anti-prohibition headquarters said there was no chance to "stave off repeal in 1933."

"The president's direct appeal to the south and the merits of the repeal issue itself," said the statement of Eugene C. Anderson, campaign manager, "have made it a one-sided fight in Tennessee." and he declared there was a possibility of a "considerable increase" over the 50,000 majority predicted earlier—possibly 2 to 1 "or even greater."

Although he said the drys were "naturally disappointed at the victory of the liquor interests," the Rev. John F. Baggett, dry campaign chairman, declared that "what transpired in Arkansas and Alabama will in no wise affect the results in Tennessee.

"It seems now," Baggett added, "that Tennessee is to be accorded the honor and distinction of being the first state in the Union to give a majority against repeal," and he fixed the minimum margin of victory at 75,000. "It can and ought to be twice that," he said.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, in a telegram to Horace Frierson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, urged Democratic workers to get out the largest possible vote. He expressed confidence that Tennessee favors repeal.

Opening at 9 a. m. throughout the state, polls close at 4 p. m. in the country and three hours later in the cities. Forecasts were for a vote of between 200,000 and 250,000, a little more than half of that cast in the last general election.

REPEAL VICTORY IS OREGON PREDICTION

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20.—(AP)—Oregon votes Friday on repeal of national and state prohibition and dry leaders seemed agreed they had no more than a "fighting chance" in the balloting.

Anti-prohibition leaders predicted a 2 to 1 vote favoring repeal.

Several prohibition leaders said privately they would consider it "a victory" if the wet majority is no greater than last November, when repeal of the state prohibition enforcing laws carried 206,619 to 138,775. The repeal of the enforcing acts left only "constitutional" prohibition on the Oregon statutes, ineffective without enforcing measures.

Prohibition headquarters reserved comment on a telegram from James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, that "it is highly essential that Oregon votes overwhelmingly in favor of repeal this week." The message was addressed to Oregon Democrats.

Anti-prohibition leaders said their only worry was that the voters might be confused by the phraseology on the ballot. In the vote against the eighteenth amendment, a voter must mark his ticket in favor of the twenty-first or repealing, amendment.

In addition to balloting directly on the twenty-first amendment, Oregon voters will elect 116 delegates to the constitutional convention on repeal. These delegates will have no discretion at the convention, each having pledged himself to vote in the assembly as his county voted in the election.

ARIZONA ALREADY COUNTED FOR REPEAL

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 20.—(AP)—Proponents of prohibition repeal Thursday counted Arizona in advance as aligned with those states voting to discard the 18th amendment.

When the electorate indicates its choice August 8, only repeal delegates will be listed on the ballot, anti-repealists having failed to obtain sufficient signatures on initialed petitions to permit their filing as candidates to the convention which will pass on the question.

State officials observed that anti-repealists could write in the names of their choices on the ballot, but that since only 14 delegates are to be chosen, election of anyone whose name was not on the ballot was unlikely.

RACE SURVIVOR DIES

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—(AP)—Frederick H. Keuthan, 83, reputed to be the last surviving person who actively participated in the historic Mississippi river race between the steamboats Natchez and Robert E. Lee, died here Thursday. During the famous New Orleans to St. Louis race in 1870 Keuthan was a clerk aboard the Natchez.

PLAN IS ALMOST IN FINAL SHAPE; DETAILS GUARDED

industry. There would be a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for unskilled workers except in industries which were paying less than that in 1929.

2. A maximum work week of 40 hours for office workers—the "white collar" classes—with a minimum wage of $15 a week.

3. That the effective date be set about three weeks ahead, possibly August 14.

4. That the provisions be accepted voluntarily by employers generally, with the guarantee that flexibility will be used in applying the so-called "blanket code" in cases where a particular industry could not bear the added costs.

5. That the broad aims of the program be directed at restoring 1929 purchasing power.

6. That blank forms by which an employer can subscribe to the voluntary agreement be distributed through postoffices and other agencies created by the Nira's publicity bureaus.

7. That a campaign of education through 24 regional offices be synchronized with the beginning of the voluntary agreements.

8. That cooperating employers be given an insignia which will show their support and, inferentially, show which companies are not cooperating.

9. That codes for particular industries would supersede the "blanket" code as quickly as the industries have their own agreements approved.

The principal problem that delayed the plan was fear of the difficulties of applying such a general code without wholesale violations.

This has been answered by indications of an earnest desire on the part of industry for success of the national recovery program.

Johnson feels something must be done to aid "white collar" workers because they are not organized in trade associations or labor unions, and because they have not benefited by the share-the-work movements in industry.

"Something has got to be done for these people," he said. "That's why I'm hell-bent in that direction."

Immediate Licensing Is Favored By Dry Chieftain

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—Stopping over here briefly while en route from Houston to Washington by plane, Major A. V. Dalrymple, national prohibition administrator, said he favored the immediate licensing of distilleries and wineries for the bonded manufacture of hard liquors in anticipation of 18th amendment repeal.

He is on a southern inspection tour to oversee the recent consolidation of sectional prohibition forces.

"There is no use to kid ourselves and there isn't any use in delaying the start of liquor manufacture," the prohibition director said. "It will mean putting hundreds of thousands of men back to work and it will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars of new business."

He left here for Montgomery and Atlanta.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

HERE'S MORE OF EVERYTHING YOU WANT IN TIRES!

More Safety in the tread

The safest tread is the one that can stop your car the quickest. Goodyears stop quicker than any other tire. 10% quicker than the second best. Up to 77% quicker than others. Tests on wet pavements prove it. Why not buy the safest tire?

More Safety in the plies

Goodyears give you safety in every ply — because every ply is built with patented Supertwist cord — and every ply runs from bead to bead. Ask to see a Supertwist demonstration and see for yourself why it means more safety in every ply.

More Mileage

Bus fleets know mileage. And bus fleets using Goodyear Tires report 97% more mileage than they got five years ago. Goodyears for your car have the same improvements that made this extra mileage possible.

PRICES you may never see again!

Everything's going up in price. Here are the attractively low prices at which you can still buy Goodyear Tires today.

COTTON RATE CUT GIVEN APPROVAL BY SERVICE BODY

Large Saving to Shippers Is Seen By Chairman H. G. Fields

MANDEVILLE, La., July 20.—(AP)—Sitting in called session here, the Louisiana Public Service Commission late Wednesday tentatively approved a compromise reduction in cotton rates on the staple moving from Natchitoches, Alexandria, Bunkie and Ferriday to the ports of Lake Charles and New Orleans, which Harvey G. Fields, commission chairman, said would mean a saving of $150,000 to Louisiana cotton interests.

Fields said today that the compromise would provide for movement of compressed cotton to high density compression points at a rate 25 cents per bale under existing rates where the rate is $1 a bale or less, 35 cents per bale under present rates where the rate is not over $1.35 a bale and 40 cents under existing rates which are not over $1.50 a bale.

A further sitting was planned for Thursday afternoon before final action is taken.

The case was brought before the commission by the American Compress and Warehouse Company, Inc., in an action against the Texas and Pacific railroad and other railroads. The full commission attended the hearing.

Numerous smaller cases were continued until later dates but a few were disposed of.

The commission fined the Gulf Motor Lines, Inc., $400 on four counts of alleged violations of rules and regulations and granted the application of Thomas S. Seeley, Thibodaux, for operation of a truck line to several points out of New Iberia.

The T. and P. railroad was granted authority to close its agency station at Hahnville September 1 on condition it would be reopened for the six-months crop shipping period following January 1.

The application of Robert Franklin, Baton Rouge, for operation of a passenger bus line between Baker and Baton Rouge was withdrawn and dismissed.

Before adjourning the Mandeville sitting the commission will take testimony on its proceeding against the Southwestern Gas and Electric company relatives to electric rates charged to cotton gins and will confer with railroad representatives on proposed reductions in passenger and pullman rates.

MUSICAL SHOW IS SLATED THURSDAY

'Hello Prosperity' Is to Be Presented; Dance at Hotel

"Hello Prosperity," a musical comedy to be presented at the Neville high school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock tonight, ending with a dance atop Hotel Frances immediately following the show, promises unusual amusement. A parade is to start off the fun at 5 p.m., in the afternoon, through downtown streets. Hanging of "Old Man Depression on the roof of the News-Star—World building is to be conducted following the parade.

Two prominent society girls who seem to be leading in the election of "Miss Prosperity" and queen of the grand ball are Misses Priscilla Hodge and Ann Hardie. The outcome of the election will not be determined until the last ballots are cast by patrons as they enter the auditorium tonight. The winners will be announced from the stage during the first intermission of the show at nine o'clock. The dance will start promptly at eleven o'clock and the king and queen will lead the grand march at midnight.

As a grand finale to "Hello Prosperity," Paul English has prepared a novel presentation for those who have seen and admired his dramatic work for many years in this section of the country. After the audience has been amused and entertained with the snappy music, songs and dance numbers by beautiful girls and many featured entertainers, Mr. English will present a dramatic sketch titled "A Plea," which has been condensed from a full-sized drama to ten minutes of heart throbs and pathos. He will be assisted in this by a local boy, a child, who will portray Mr. English's views of the divorce question and problems.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS

AT THE PARAMOUNT.—The season's outstanding movie musical—a melodic, uproarious, comedy of college life as the old co-eds remember it, featuring a brilliant all-star cast—this is "College Humor," latest hit from the Paramount studios, which comes to the Paramount Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Mary Carlisle, Jack Oakie, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California, Lona Andre and Mary Kornman have the featured roles in the film. The Ox Road Co-Eds, a group of cherines who make the late Florenz Ziegfeld's famous ensembles look pale, prance in and out of the action.

"College Humor" is the average youth's dream of what college ought to be—a place where necking and football are the two principal courses of study, where the professors croon to their classes, where all the male students are handsome and all the females beautiful.

Its plot has to do with the adventures of Crosby, a young instructor; of Arlen, a football star who's not at all sure he's willing to die for good old Whoozis; of Oakie, a big fraternity man who modestly admits he's a fine athlete and an equally fine student; and of the Misses Carlisle, Andre and Kornman, sorority girls who learn in college principally that the woman pays and pays and pays.

"Learn to Croon," "Moonstruck" and 'The Old Ox-Road" are three of the musical numbers from "College Humor" which have already proved smash hits. They were written by Sam Coslow and Arthur Johnston. Wesley Ruggles directed the production.

AT THE CAPITOL.—Two men and their families in the midst of a financial tempest that rocks a great mercantile institution form the keynote of "Looking Forward," Lionel Barrymore's newest starring picture which will be shown Thursday and Friday at the Capitol theater.

Barrymore in a role said to be even more gripping than his characterization in "Grand Hotel," is seen as the old bookkeeper in a great London department store. Dismissed because of the depression, he is regenerated by his loyal wife and in the end becomes the means of saving the tottering firm. Lewis Stone plays the millionaire store owner who is brought to the brink of ruin by an unfaithful wife.

The effective cast includes Benita Hume, recently seen in "Clear All Wires"; Elizabeth Allan, who was brought to this country from England following her success opposite Leslie Howard in "Service for Ladies"; Phillips Holmes, Colin Clive, Alec B. Francis, and a number of others.

Based on C. L. Anthony's London stage success, "Service," the picture was directed by Clarence Brown, who made "Letty Lynton," "A Free Soul" and "Anna Christie," among other successes. The title, "Looking Forward," was selected by special permission of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who permitted the producers to use the title of his widely acclaimed book, after viewing the picture.

BUILDING INDUSTRY ON UPWARD CLIMB

AUSTIN, July 20.—(U.P.)—The building industry's downward slide has been halted in Texas for the first time since the onslaught of the depression in 1929, the University of Texas bureau of business research indicated Thursday in a report on building permit valuations.

Permits awarded in 38 reporting cities totaled $1,897,447 for June. It represented a gain of 41.6 per cent over the total for May, and for the first time in 44 months revealed a gain as compared with the corresponding month a year earlier. Ordinarily, the bureau said, there is a decline of 23 per cent from May to June.

Fort Worth set the building pace with $796,110 in permits during June. Houston's total was $273,420; Dallas $247,244; Austin $100,000.

City Briefs

Due to the fact that two members of the board of the Louisiana Training institute are out of the city, the meeting that was slated for this week has not as yet been held. Two new members were named to this board last week. They are Barlow Inabnett and Fred Mitchell.

Charles Mitchell, division freight and passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific in Monroe for several years, but now associated with a large chemical plant in Houston, Tex., was a visitor here Thursday. He stated that business conditions are excellent in his city. Next week he is to start his summer vacation which will be spent in New York city.

Sam McClary and his younger brother, Bill, sons of S. H. McClary, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, are to leave Saturday for Chicago to attend the Century of Progress exposition.

Supt. T. O. Brown, of the parish schools, together with Mrs. Brown, will leave some day next week for Boulder, Colo., where they are to spend a month's vacation.

Rev. J. J. Douglas, pastor of the church of the Nazarine, has just returned from holding a successful revival at Arlington, Tex. Attendance reached 2,000 at many of the meetings held.

Judge Fred M. Odom, member of the Louisiana state supreme court, is in Monroe for several days' visit during the recess that the tribunal is now taking through the summer months.

Baptist young people from Monroe and West Monroe, who have been spending two weeks in camp at Mandeville, La., will return home Friday noon. The party is headed by L. A. Stulce, educational director of the First Baptist church of Monroe. Word from the encampment has been to the effect that a first-class time has been enjoyed by all.

TWO ROBBERS SOUGHT

MARSHALL, Tex., July 20.—(AP)—Officers Thursday were searching for two men who bound and gagged John Ratley, cafe owner, and Manuel Prince, and robbed them of $40. While Ratley and Prince lay helpless in the kitchen the bandits calmly served customers who entered the cafe. They escaped in Prince's car.

ANNUAL SESSIONS OF GROTTOS ARE TO BE CONDUCTED

Fort Smith to Have Big Meet; Teflis to Send Delegation

The Southwestern Grotto association is to hold its annual convention in Fort Smith, Ark., on September 3 and 4. The latter date is that of Labor day. The association is composed of Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana members, and most of the grottos will send representation. It is expected that 3,000 will be present, inclusive of families of members of the grottos.

The Teflis Grotto of this city is to send a large delegation and the band. They plan to travel to the convention city by special train, stated L. N. Collier of the local group.

There are to be competitive drills between the patrols and bands of the various organizations.

Advance information reveals a ready program for everyone in the form of entertainment, such as two dances, one a German dance, beginning at midnight of September 3, swimming parties, an honest barbecue a la Amrita Grotto, ceremonial in the afternoon, drive among the Ozarks for the ladies and a real big ball to end the day on September 4 at 8 p.m. This program will in the time to come be improved.

A special train has been assured this organization by the Kansas City Southern railroad from Shreveport, and an attractive rate has been given that will be of great interest to all of the members. The hotels of Fort Smith have made unbelievable rates to the Grotto members.

NOMINATIONS ARE MADE BY LEGION

Election of Post's Officers to Be Held On August 7

At the last meeting of L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion, two nominating committees appointed at a previous meeting for the purpose of naming officers for the ensuing year, reported their selections. They were:

Committee No. 1—for commander, John A. McClain; for first vice-commander, J. B. Bradley; for second vice-commander, Frank X. Cline; for adjutant, Harry Stein; for finance officer, Ivey Faulk; for sergeant-at-arms, Graves Godwin; for chaplain, Rev. Ernest Holloway; for historian, Charles Mitchell; for executive committee members, Morton Myatt, Courtney Oliver, and Isadore Liebreich.

Committee No. 2—For commander, H. F. Madison; for first vice-commander, J. H. Johnson; for second vice-commander, J. B. Swanson; for adjutant, Harry Stein; for finance officer, Ivey Faulk; for sergeant-at-arms, Graves Godwin; for service officer, J. B. McClendon; for chaplain, Rev. Ernest Holloway; for historian, Charles Mitchell; for members of the executive committee, Isadore Liebreich, Courtney Oliver, Wayne Huckaby.

The election of officers is to take place on August 7.

At the meeting Monday, routine business only was transacted. In the absence of Commander Sam Newsom, the meeting was presided over by Second Vice-Commander J. H. Johnson. It was decided at this meeting to allow the Forty and Eight to arrange for a game of baseball for the junior baseball team sponsored by the post.

Our New Kind of Army

In various sections of north Louisiana civilian conservation corps camps are in full operation, with their hundreds of young men engaged in activities that should mean for them a new hope, new vision and a higher appreciation of their privileges as citizens.

Citizens who have visited the camps at Bastrop, Grayson, Choudrant, Olla, and other locations in the Monroe area have been struck with the importance of the program and its deep significance as a measure not only to help in retrieving some of our great natural resources but particularly as a means to restore our young manhood to their logical place in the nation's sun.

Our lost frontier is found again. The youth of cities and towns hack away at more trees than they ever thought existed. They push roads through country as wild and as rugged as that of the western movies that gave them vicarious thrills. Even the young men from the local country districts are finding that theirs was a tame and well grooved life in comparison. Manhood is being built up in the open by the old struggle against nature, the petty and shut-in life of the built-up communities left far behind them.

The sturdy individualism of the old frontier grew from the shared hardships and isolation of the covered wagon trains, the railroad construction gangs and little settlements. The men of 1933 go to their great adventure in the camaraderie of their companies, to clear their camps in the forests, to share their privations and their pleasures. And again the life of the group will develop, in those surroundings, the full individual.

But the spirit of the group will not be lost. This is organized youth, going out to a war as vital as that of 1917-18—though quite a different kind of war. These men will make the good earth more habitable instead of scarring it with trenches. They will make lasting roads instead of bursting shrapnel. They will destroy the pests and hazards of forests and farms instead of men. They will seek to conserve instead of destroy.

Their deeds may lack the glamor of those of the World war, but what they do for their country will live after them. And in the end the veterans of 1917-18 may find that a younger generation has grown up, that it has also served its country, and that it is rather tired of hearing about an old war and the obligations that it is supposed to have incurred.

The men who come out from the camps will not be battle-scarred veterans, but they will be equipped through the inspirations of hard work under benevolent discipline to take their places among the workers for the world's good as citizens trained in the best arts of peace.

Way to Live

How many of the jobless millions, who two or three years ago gave up the what seemed to them hopeless task of looking for work, have learned how to put their leisure to valuable use? How many of those other millions to whom the depression has given a shorter working day and more leisure hours have found uses for those extra free hours?

Will any appreciable number of these men and women be any better prepared for their professions, trades or occupations when they again return to work or to a full day's work than they were when the depression got them? Relatively few. And yet they have had the time and the facilities for a four years' college course, if they have lived within walking distance of a good library.

It is too bad that there has not fallen into the hands of all these unfortunates or fortunates, whichever one chooses to call them, a little book by Gove Hambidge, who deserted the editor's desk to go for applied leisure in a big way.

Packed into this work "Time to Live," are many little gems for the person with time to live.

The author has discovered that "any reduction in the hours that must be spent in earning a livelihood means so much potential richness added to life."

"The great depression became the acid test of the validity of a certain way of life," he finds in another chapter.

And after he had learned how to find time to live he discovered that there are "certain rich overtones of life that poverty alone is powerless to destroy, once the ear is tuned to catch them, and that enables one to accept hardship with considerable tranquility."

Intolerance

Americans today are accustomed to the idea that men should be free to worship God, or not to worship, as their own consciences or impulses instruct them, and they forget that, with the exception of Rhode Island, each of the original colonies was in a sense a church state, and that it cost our forefathers a long struggle to dissociate the civil authority from the religious.

Pennsylvania, commonly considered the home of religious liberty, opened her doors in colonial times only to those who acknowledged "one almighty and eternal God to be the creator, upholder and ruler of the world," and long barred Catholics, Jews, and later, Unitarians from the polls.

Maryland's famous "toleration act," while it set Catholics and sundry Protestants upon an equal basis, decreed, even under the slogan of toleration, death and confiscation to those who denied the Holy Trinity, the Virgin Mary or the divine sonship of Jesus Christ.

Even in Rhode Island, which Roger Williams founded in so extreme and generous a spirit, Catholics and Jews seem, for most of the eighteenth century, to have been barred from voting.

It is not surprising, then, that little religious intolerances, suspicions and fears creep into the affairs of today contrary to our professed ideals and to do violence to constitutional mandates. Man's mental evolution [illegible]

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

THE HARDEST MAN TO LICK

You must spend at least half of your life in a fight with yourself.

If you win it, you have the scriptural assurance that you will be "greater than he who taketh a city."

If you lose it, well—but you mustn't lose it.

I do not believe that any man born into this world has made his mark save after a long and bitter battle against his own desires, his own pride and his own foolishness.

You can contend against other men—if you are careful in picking your adversary—on fairly even terms.

But in your fight with yourself, you are very likely to find yourself—or half of yourself, giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

Long ago successions of forefathers have transmitted to you tastes and desires, and habits of mind, many of which are far from beneficial.

Start any undertaking, and you will discover, though you cannot tell why, that some of them will be in opposition—often in pretty violent opposition.

It is as if a general who directed a campaign to be started against the enemy should find his subordinate officers of different minds, some of them insisting that there must be no attack at all, others that it should not be made in the way the commander had ordered it, and others that it should be postponed till some later time.

The most dangerous enemy is, so to speak, within your own tent.

Before you can go forth and make a successful battle, you must subdue this enemy, and make sure that you keep him subdued till the battle is won.

The most of us possess inclinations, which if followed, would put an end to all hope of achievement.

The poet who wrote that he was the "master of his fate, the captain of his soul" probably was not anything of the kind, although he did write a few fairly inspiring poems.

From where we do not know, far back in our ancestry—we derive characteristics and traits, some good, some bad.

These are always holding back when we start an enterprise, always blocking the path we have chosen.

If you are still young, begin the fight with them at once.

Decide what you want to do, make sure that it is the right thing to do, and then do it.

Don't let that lazy and procrastinating inherited habit hold you back.

Don't let anything hold you back.

Fix your eyes on your goal and keep them there.

It sounds difficult, and it is difficult, but there have been multitudes of people who have overcome all their handicaps and inhibitions and won through.

You can do the same thing if you have the will and the ability.

But don't forget that it will be a long hard fight.

STOWAWAY

My heart has gone on a ship today;
Never a passage bought
As one should buy it in advance,
But to a high mast caught.

My heart has gone on the waves' high crest,
Much against my will,
For I am landlubber and I love
The sandy beach and hill.

My heart has gone; what will he do,
Finding a heart at sea,
A heart he knew, familiar heart,
My heart, fond heart of me?

HOLDING OUT

Mrs. Needmore—Don't refuse me absolutely. Can't you hold out some hope?

Miss Sweetly—Oh, yes. I can hold it just out of your reach.

WANTED HIM TO GET IT RIGHT OFF

Officer—Here, that's a fire alarm box.

Jay Citizen—Well, this is a letter to the chief of the fire department.

COMPREHENSIVE

Bilker—What is he estimated to be worth?

Tellit—Oh, all the way from a couple of silver mines up to $50!

HIS EXCUSE

Woman—Poor man! Have you no wife?

Beggar—Yes, lady; but she can't hardly support herself!

THE TRUTHTELLER

Accountant—This is a full schedule of your liabilities, is it?

Bankrupt (hopelessly)—Well no—here's eight wedding invitations!

PADDED EDITIONS

Kind Old Lady (to warden)—You say that man is fond of books? I have some at home that he might like.

Warden—His fondness is in pocket-books.

POLITICS MAKE HOSPITAL VICTIM

ties, some on a basis of collateral relationship to the governor and senior United States senator. Mrs. A. B. Broyles, who, according to the record, is assigned to "social service" at the Shreveport hospital, is a sister of Governor Allen. Lee McConnell, who is on the hospital payroll, is a brother-in-law of Huey P. Long.

Incidentally, it is reported that there are times when Mrs. Broyles is assigned to the chief hospital door, from which vantage point she sometimes determines whether an applicant should be admitted or turned away. As she is not a trained nurse and has had no medical experience, it is claimed that this service has led to some rather awkward errors of judgment, as a result of which sick persons have been denied admittance or well persons permitted to enter. Complaints of this situation have reached the Shreveport newspapers, but there have been no tragic consequences.

The last Shreveport hospital payroll on file in the office of the state auditor prior to June 30 was that showing payments for four months to officials and employes, later payrolls having been taken over by the tax reform committee which was moved by the delusion that its work was about to be considered by the legislature in special session.

Here are the salary figures of that report:

Dr. E. L. Sanderson, $2,045.29; Margie O. Baxter, $377.26; Lillian Morgan, $309.68; Maud Eggleston, $200.57; Gladys Graham, $112.72; Mrs. Paul Renken, $50; Mrs. Alyne H. Boone, $164.24; Mrs. Ruth Clifton, $70; Mrs. J. D. Newman, $332.10; Mrs. Mary Pope, $332.10; Mrs. W. H. Barron, $238.63; Mrs. A. Robinson, $238.63; Annie Mae Green, $200.57; Mamie Sue Woods, $160.60; Bessie Mae Bostick, $160.60; Mattie Durden, $160.60; Mrs. Muriel Whitlock, $160.60; Mrs. H. C. Fletcher, $160.60; Evelyn Platt, $160.60; Mrs. James C. Robinson, $97.72; Ollie Muse, $50; Mrs. Florence Overton, $332.50; Helen Gisselpie, $120.75; Mrs. Helen Whisner, $65; Ruby Decker, $97.92.

Dr. W. R. Matthews, $925.53; Eola Kendrick, $238.63; Sarah Chapman, $160.60; Mrs. Muriel Steele, $160.60; Maxine Comeaux, $114.23; Dr. G. H. Robinson, $845.49; Dr. J. B. Birdwell, $50; Dr. T. N. Oxford, $50; Dr. John S. Couret, $160.60; Dr. J. B. Barham, $50; Nita McMichael, $160.60; Stella A. Ernest, $97.72; Mary Tenney, $332.16; Mrs. G. R. Cloutier, $160.60; Margaret Gray, $50; Lee McConnell, $503; Foster Holland, $160.60; Vaughn, $97.72; Wallace Jackson, $50; Mrs. A. B. Broyles, $210.60; Mrs. Susie Peritte, $60; Katherine Perry, $110.60; Mrs. Mattie Moore, $41.

In addition, there are twelve internes at $10 per month each, a number of independent nurses, student nurses, the kitchen help and labor of various kinds. All of these were forced to wait several months for arrival of the pay car.

Louisiana is thus convicted of paying in full its political workers and "standing off," as the saying goes, the doctors and nurses who treat its indigent sick. The Shreveport charity hospital has achieved the record of borrowing less money for support or extensions than any institution of the state. In four years, only $30,000 was borrowed from the fiscal agents for the hospital. In the same length of time over a million dollars was borrowed for the state penitentiary and $325,000 for the state board of health.

The Shreveport institution has been compelled to get along on very little and even that little was not always made available. Yet, reports of the hospital surgeons show that about 45 patients are turned away daily for lack of proper facilities and about that number are admitted. To the extent of the surgeons' ability, a strict quarantine is maintained against out-of-state patients, in order that Louisianians who are sick and ailing may benefit as much as possible from the hospital. However, the ban is often lifted in emergency cases and sometimes out-of-town patients obtain entrance by giving false addresses.

Logger Arrested On Auto Theft Charge

FARMERVILLE, July 20.—(Special)—Edgar Davis was arrested by Deputy Sheriff G. M. Edwards at a log camp between Farmerville and Bernice on a charge of stealing an automobile at Dozier, Ala., last June 30.

Davis had been living here for some time. He came here with his family three years ago and became engaged as an employe of the Brackin Construction company in building and grading the east-west highway out of Farmerville.

Sheriff Pat Murphy had been informed by the Alabama authorities that a warrant had been issued for Davis at Dozier, Ala., and was requested by Alabama authorities to be on the lookout for the man. This led to his arrest at the log camp.

Sheriff Murphy notified the Alabama sheriff and Deputy Sheriff Sam W. Ewing of Crenshaw county came for Davis and returned him to Alabama.

M'DIVANI BROS. ARMY VANISHES

Purpose of Force of Georgian Princes Mystery to Wives

LOS ANGELES, July 20—(AP)—Hollywood discussed Thursday the reputed "army" of the M'Divani brothers—Serge and David—but the "army" and its drill instructor had disappeared.

And what the film colony had heard rumored was a force to invade Russia and restore the Georgian princes to power in what now is a state of the Soviet, ultimately turned out to be the "veterans' motion picture training battalion."

Miss Mary McCormic, opera singer who is married to Serge but has sued for separate maintenance, commented on the "army." She said Serge told her it would be nice if he and David—who is married to Mae Murray, film actress, who seeks a divorce—could organize an army. What they intended to do with it was a mystery to Miss McCormic.

There was a mobilization of several hundred war veterans under Sgt. C. D. Allen, a soldier with a long war record and bearer of wounds received in action. Allen apparently figured he was drilling an army for the brothers—who were en route to Los Angeles from Europe—but the recruits apparently thought they were to work in a film story at $7.50 a day.

Miss McCormic said:

"I didn't think anything of the army business until I received a letter from Sgt. Allen, who was organizer and drill master. He told me 'our' army was going to be reviewed. It indicated that 'the boys'—Serge and David—had ordered mobilization before they left for Europe four months ago, and that now the troops were in shape, I should review them.

"Sgt. Allen said I was going to be made an honorary colonel. Of What?"

A similar plea was received at the home of Miss Murray. Said Miss Murray:

"Yes, they wanted to make me a colonel, too, if I would just come up and inspect the troops. What troops?"

Well, in Miss McCormic's own words, it was all just too fantastic to believe, and evidently the army was organized to get a lot of war veterans some film jobs.

"The 'boys' love to play soldier," commented Miss McCormic. "Well, things like this have helped to cost me about $40,000."

Added Miss Murray: "And me about $200,000."

Canning Kitchen Is Installed at Bernice

BERNICE, July 20.—(Special)—A canning kitchen has been opened in the home economics department of the Bernice high school. Miss Josephine Houck, the Union parish demonstrator, will be present each Tuesday to offer assistance to those who wish it. Last Tuesday a large number of people came and brought vegetables and fruit to be canned. Elberta peaches were the principal fruit used. Later meat will be canned.

The recent showers have enabled people to plant fall gardens and truck patches.

IN NEW YORK

By JULIA BLANSHARD

NEW YORK—Hot days are bringing out various curious-looking costumes labelled "reform clothes for men" . . . One consistent clothes-reformer is Russell Patterson, noted illustrator of young moderns . . . His latest idea of the best hot-weather outfit is an immaculate, double-breasted white coat, worn with dark pants "because the coat part of your costume stays clean so much longer" . . . He also wears Ascot-tie shirts (no collar, just a matching Ascot tie, knotted in easy, comfortable manner) . . . He has just finished designing comfortable hot-weather shoes for men and is now at work designing some new types of smart clothes for little women . . . Winters he is addicted to having his suits tailored in two tones of the same color, coats slightly lighter in hue than the blue, brown or gray trousers that go with them.

Skyscraper Alligators

New Yorkers go to extreme lengths for their pets. Margaret Bourke-White, photographer de luxe who charges $500 for a single shot of a derrick, bridge or some other machinery and who has gone twice to Russia as guest of the Soviet government to take pictures, laid aside all work one day this week to do her bit for one of her pet turtles.

She has two alligators, "Mercury" and "Mars," and eight turtles in her skyscraper studio on the 61st floor of the Chrysler building. Incidentally, it is on her floor that the Chrysler sprouts those huge metal gargoyles off the corner of the beginning of the metal peak and Miss Bourke-White's porch includes two of them, "Min" and "Bill," but these animals cause her no trouble!

On the exciting day mentioned, however, one of her turtles laid an egg—the first turtle in history ever to lay an egg 800 feet above the sidewalks of New York. Not knowing what to do under the circumstances, "Peggy" called the head of the Herpetology department of the Natural History museum, got him out of a conference, and found out that she must keep the egg in a box of moist sand . . . Finally they got the egg all fixed up . . . They "are expecting" around Labor day.

Now another problem confronts her. She has never bothered to name her turtles and she feels that the mother of the egg, at least, should bear a name befitting her new dignity. So friends are submitting suggestions.

Another new addition to her studio is an interesting cactus park for her alligators. These pets are almost too healthy. They fight ferociously when given their once-a-week half pound of fresh beefsteak. They hiss at everybody who comes in. However, they both seem quieter and more contented, now that they have a cactus park.

Isn't Such a Tall Town

Little bits that go to make the crazy-quilt New York: The average height of buildings, in this city of skyscrapers, is six stories . . . Men taxi drivers, no matter how hot the day, cannot drive in their shirt sleeves but must wear coats. It is a hangover from the Grover (Gardenia-in-his-buttonhole) Whalen regime. The three girl taxi drivers, however, can wear any cool costume they please. One drives in white cotton slacks and cotton polo shirts, another in sunback, sleeveless dresses . . . The public library has newspapers from every city in the U. S. A., which you can read by dropping in . . . The Chanin building on East 42nd street has a theater with a capacity of 200, on its 54th floor . . . Don't wear a flower in your buttonhole or carry one if you are walking through Central park or any other city park with blooming plants. You can be arrested for same. There is a law against picking park flowers and cops always assume you have broken it.

Hollywood Close-Ups

By DAN THOMAS, NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Janet Gaynor and Winfield Sheehan are married!

Greta Garbo will grant interviews to any and all newspaper writers!

Jackie Cooper really is a midget, not a child!

Hoot Gibson was just killed in an accident!

Hot news, all of them worth headlines in any newspaper—if they were true. It just happens that none of them are. But they are a fair example of the rumors which may be heard bouncing around the film capital any day, Sundays excluded. On Sundays we get only half as many rumors as on the other six days of the week.

That's one of the things which keeps the Hollywood newspapermen so busy. Occasionally a rumor breaks loose which is so absurd that it can be passed by without giving it a second thought. However, there always is the outside possibility that some of them might be true. Consequently we are kept on the jump continually.

New Crop Every Day

Just how all these rumors get started is something nobody yet has been able to determine. Perhaps rumors simply assume greater importance here than in other cities because of the prominence of Hollywood residents. Whatever is behind it all, the fact remains that Hollywood is overrun with rumors, with fresh ones cropping up every day.

It was the radio which first carried the news of Hoot Gibson's "death." And there might have been some excuse for that. He did crash in his plane while racing with Ken Maynard during the national air races here. But Hoot still is very much alive. Those excited radio announcers simply "jumped the gun." They saw the crash and simply took it for granted that he had been killed.

The rumor that Janet Gaynor and Winfield Sheehan had married was discounted immediately because such was impossible, due to the fact that Janet has not yet received her final divorce decree. The rumor on Greta Garbo was found to be greatly exaggerated. That also applies to Jackie Cooper—he is a normal, healthy, growing boy.

ARREST YOUTH IN MONROE FOR TENN. SHERIFF'S OFFICE

Williamson County Officer to Come Friday to Get Prisoner

G. S. Sidway, alias James Allen, 19, wanted in Franklin, Tenn., on a charge of house breaking and larceny, was arrested by members of the Monroe police department, and transferred to the Ouachita parish jail to await word from the police of the Tennessee city. He refused to return without extradition.

Thursday morning, word came from the sheriff, Charles Fox, of Williamson county, Tennessee, to the effect that he would arrive here some time Friday with requisition for the return of the prisoner.

NATION TO ASSIST IN STAMPING OUT KIDNAP MENACE

Keenan has conferred with White House aides. That led to expressions, which he would not confirm, that when the time came—soon—President Roosevelt would be ready to put federal forces at work pending changes in the law by the next session of congress.

Legislation to make these changes is being drafted by Attorney General Cummings. It is known that the president is willing to spend the money necessary to wipe out kidnaping and racketeering.

Pending these developments, Keenan is going ahead with his plans. In the last few days, he has talked with and had the advice of the city manager of Kansas City, whose daughter, Mary McElroy, was kidnaped and returned after the payment of ransom.

Justice department agents in this case played a part. They assisted in the return of three men to Missouri for trial. They will offer their assistance similarly in the future.

The Missouri law allows a death penalty for kidnaping. Officials here say that if Missouri courts uphold the action of the federal operatives, and a stiff penalty is assessed upon conviction, it will further stimulate government action against kidnapers.

upon President Roosevelt. Wilson expects action by Morganthau in the matter in the near future.

General Brown's letter to Wilson read in part:

"I have the honor to inform you that the lands in the Boeuf basin are, in my opinion, safer from the flood menace than has ever been the case in the past." There has been largely built a stronger levee along the entire exposed Arkansas front, which was the weak protection of the Boeuf heretofore. "The levee just south of the mouth of the Arkansas is as good as ever in the past. The organization for flood protection in the valley is far stronger than at any time in the past."

"So altogether the protection has been improved over what it ever has been.

"Therefore if there was ever any reason for confidence, there is greater reason now."

be a small steering committee composed of Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, conference chairman; James M. Cox of Ohio, and Premier Hendryk Colijn of Holland, as well as other officials of the principal commissions.

The plan is to have the ambassadors at London represent those delegates on the committee who go home.

A new resolution in which, if accepted, the nations would subscribe to the American idea of price raising and agree to use such measures as seem most feasible for each nation has been prepared by American experts and has been approved, it was said, by Washington.

American circles, however, said Thursday it had been virtually decided not to introduce the proposals since it was thought chances for its acceptance at this late hour would be slim.

out the will of the people if they know what it is. On the question of sale of 3.2 per cent beer and wines, the voters have definitely spoken." He added, however, legislators might agree "a beer bill should be passed but disagree as to its terms." Legislative conferences were expected promptly.

Wednesday night the latest Arkansas returns from Tuesday's repeal election stood: for repeal, 61,865; against, 41,928. The returns came from 1,499 of the state's 1,986 precincts and it was estimated less than 15,000 votes were cast in precincts not yet reported.

Returns from 1,749 of the 2,137 ballot boxes in Alabama gave 92,443 for repeal to 61,201 against with an estimated 20,000 votes in the unreported precincts.

William Guidry Winner Of Farm Body Oratorical

BATON ROUGE, La., July 20.—(AP)—William Guidry of Breaux Bridge Thursday held the distinction of being Louisiana's champion farm boy orator.

He was acclaimed winner of the oratorical contest of the Louisiana Association of future farmers of America conducted during the association's annual convention.

His triumph makes him eligible for competition as Louisiana's representative in the 12-state southern regional public speaking contest to be conducted by the future farmers organization.

TIDE TURNING IN KIDNAPING GAME

held by his relatives in Albany, N. Y. They looked for his release by Friday morning. There were others, however, notably high law enforcement officials, who expressed fear for the young man's safety.

His abductors demanded ransom of $250,000.

ATTEMPTED KIDNAPING VICTIM NEAR DEATH

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—(AP)—Victim of two assailants who took him as second-choice in an attempted kidnaping, Frank A. McClatchy, wealthy real estate operator, lay near death Thursday with a bullet wound through the chest.

Gambling with his life by putting up a determined battle after the men had informed him he was being kidnaped, McClatchy, 56, was shot down in a sample house in lower Merion, where he had been lured.

Police said the would-be abductors originally intended to kidnap the man and demand ransom from his brother, John M. McClatchy, 58, millionaire real estate man and developer of the 69th street section in upper Darby, just west of Philadelphia.

The two men, well dressed and saying they wished to purchase a house immediately, entered the McClatchy office earlier with a demand to see "the boss"—John McClatchy.

After some wrangling with clerks, they were admitted to the inner office of the brothers and insisted on John McClatchy taking them to inspect a house. The builder had an engagement and induced the men to go with his brother.

Entering the house, McClatchy said the men "grabbed both my hands, pulled them behind my back and tried to tie them with cord."

He resisted and was told: "Listen now, you's kidnaped. Keep quiet and everything will be all right."

McClatchy struck one man and kicked the other, he said. "Give him the works," ordered one of the assailants pulling a pistol. McClatchy tried to dodge, but a bullet tore through his right lung.

The two men fled on foot and McClatchy staggered from the house. He lay helpless by the roadside for some time before a motorist noticed him.

terpreted as a favorable indicator but that too much emphasis should not be put upon it.

The president does want federal regulation of the exchanges. In a message to the last session of congress asking the securities law, he parenthesized:

"It (the securities bill) should be followed by legislation relating to the better supervision of the purchase and sale of all property dealt in on exchanges."

There is, though, a federal law in force which could restrict the amount of money loaned for speculation if the president decided too much was being used that way. The Glass-Steagall Bank reform bill permits the federal reserve board to order and enforce such restrictions.

rejected proposal of Representative J. C. Henriques of New Orleans for immediate special session action on prohibition repeal, but said an extra session might be held before the end of the year "for some other purpose," and could also act upon repeal.

Burgess indicated that prospect of state revenue from liquor taxation in event of prohibition repeal has been considered during study of taxation readjustment plans.

The expected report will be the second rendered by the commission. A formal statement of its general tax relief objectives was submitted by the body December 31, 1932.

REDUCED

70 Pounds—Easily

NO BAD EFFECTS

"Last June I weighed 200 lbs., and today (May 11) I weigh 130 lbs., thanks to Kruschen. It takes weight off so easily, not too quickly to have any bad effects—but just right." Mrs. H. Reick, New York City.

As surely, safely and conveniently as a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning banishes double chins, fat hips, bulging stomachs and restores slim, youthful lines—so will this healthful "little daily dose" help build up glorious health. Indigestion, gas, acidity, headaches, fatigue and shortness of breath so often caused by excess fat cease to annoy—you'll look younger and FEEL IT—so vigorous and full of ambition.

If one inexpensive jar (lasts 4 weeks) doesn't joyfully satisfy money back from any drugstore. Make sure you get Kruschen—prescribed by many physicians and recognized the world over as the SAFE way to reduce. (Adv.)

panions. With officers still pouring lead at them, the desperate trio started the motor, and roared away on the highway.

The scene of the battle is roughly 20 miles north of Kansas City and 40 south of St. Joseph.

Officers at both cities were advised of the escape and warned to be on the lookout. Officers were sent to guard the incoming highways of both cities. Numerous first-class highways branch off, however, from the one on which the fugitives escaped.

Captain Baxter expressed confidence the men were the Barrows. He said they answered the description of the brothers, and the woman with them fitted the description of one known to have been in their company the last time their whereabouts were reported.

Inside the cabins officers found rags smeared with dried blood. It was reported one of the men bought medicine here Wednesday.

The Barrows were wanted at Joplin in connection with the slaying of Wes Harryman, county constable, and Harry McGinnis, Joplin detective, April 13. They were fired on from a house at which they sought to serve a liquor search warrant.

In the house was found a pardon for Ivy Barrow, issued by the governor of Texas in March of this year.

Hollishale, extradited from Texas, confessed he helped the Barrows rob the Bank of Oronogo last November 30.

BARROW BROTHERS HAVE LURID RECORDS

DALLAS, Tex., July 20.—(U.P.)—Clyde and Ivan (Buck) Barrow, west Dallas' notorious outlaws, have a criminal record of seven years that can be read on police books throughout the southwest.

Beginning with automobile theft charges the offenses have grown until now they are sought for killings in Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

The trio which shot its way through Platte City, Mo., officers Thursday bore semblance of the Barrow brothers and Bonnie Parker, Dallas schoolgirl who left her home to go with Clyde Barrow.

Clyde, wanted for questioning in connection with five murders, made his debut as a gunman last year when a man answering his description participated in the fatal shooting of J. N. Bucher, Hillboro, Texas grocer. He was alleged lately to have participated in the payroll robbery of the Neuhoff Packing company here, and was identified shortly after as one of the gunmen who killed a deputy sheriff at Atoka, Okla.

He and Buck, who was pardoned from the Texas penitentiary March 23 this year, were identified as the desperadoes who shot their way through officers at Joplin, Mo., killing a detective and a constable.

The last major offense with which the were connected was the kidnaping of a Ruston, La., business man and a young woman near Hico, La., while the bandits were stealing an automobile for the admitted purpose of robbing a bank.

Borrowed cars prove Gulf-lube cuts oil costs 28½%

6 BORROWED CARS test four of America's leading brands of 25c motor oils—and every car brings in the verdict "Gulf-lube lasts longer!"

America's greatest 25c motor oil

THE Contest Board of the American Automobile Association recently put 4 famous 25c oils "on the spot" . . .

One after another, these famous oils were put in 6 borrowed cars—and tested for 4 days, 12 hours a day, on the Indianapolis Speedway.

When the figures were averaged, here was the amazing result—Gulf-lube went 28½% farther before a quart of oil had to be added. It beat every oil in every car!

Switch to Gulf-lube! You'll buy less oil. You'll pay less for repairs—for the oil that lasts longer is a better lubricant. Get Gulf-lube at any Gulf station!

MY CREED

My creed is: stars,
And wild birds flying;
October winds
And hills low-lying;

The late March snows
And April's waking,
With orchard trees
Their pink wealth shaking;

A red-brown road
From towns far leading
Through vistas wide—
Old cares unheeding;

A plain, sweet hut
By meadows waiting
For hearts grown tired
Of human hating;

Old-fashioned flowers,
And rains light-tapping;
Wide, sandy shores
And bright waves flapping.

So here's my creed—
And how I love it!—
Beauty in earth,
And God above it!
—Thomas Curtis Clark.

The regular monthly program meeting of the Presbyterian auxiliary was of more than usual interest this month as it featured a patriotic theme interwoven with an inspirational text. The topic "Our Flag and Home Missions," was presented by Mrs. H. L. Gregg, secretary of home missions, and Mrs. Manning McGuire, program leader.

Many interesting facts concerning "our flag" was given by the following ladies: Mrs. E. R. Morton, Mrs. S. L. Digby, Mrs. Louis Hullum, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. John Hay, Mrs. W. B. Ayers and Mrs. W. K. Olmstead.

The Christian flag was then taken up and many educational facts relative to the work of the church given, a star being placed to represent each cause.

The pledge of allegiance to each flag was given by the audience, "America" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" being sung at the close of each pledge.

Rev. Ernest Holloway gave a most inspiring talk on "Personal Evangelism" and as usual held his audience spell bound under the earnestness of his message.

The Sunday school's rooms were beautifully decorated in flowers and flags carying out the patriotic theme.

After the close of the program a delightful social hour was enjoyed during which the Business and Professional Women's circle of which Mrs. O. M. Arnette is chairman, served refreshing lemonade and dainty cakes.

Those who assisted in serving the refreshments were Mrs. Josie Henderson, Mrs. Stella Ross, Mrs. H. P. Smith, Mrs. R. B. Gatlin, Miss Cliffie Olmstead, Miss Katie McGee and Mrs. O. M. Arnette.

Mrs. George Moffett, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Moffett, Mrs. C. C. Carroll and sons, Charles and Vaughan, and Miss Hazel Stovall of West Monroe formed a party leaving early Thursday morning for a ten-day visit to the Century of Progress exposition.

Mrs. A. M. Wills has returned from Montreat, N. C., where she attended the Presbyterial presidents' conference. She was accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Leonard of Shreveport, who represented the First Presbyterian church of that city.

The Gladys Rhodes Y. W. A. will meet Tuesday night in the ladies' parlor of the First Baptist church. Officers will be installed and a program will be rendered. Young ladies of the Central Baptist church are cordially invited.

Mrs. D. Curtis Smith and daughter, Evelyn Jane, accompanied by Mrs. Joe Dillard and daughter, Gail, left Wednesday for Memphis, where they will be the guest for some time of Mrs. B. W. Hardcastle and Mrs. J. A. Tingay.

Miss Julia Wossman, Miss Maida Moore and Miss Daisy Richardson, who accompanied Miss Alma Levins of Mt. Lebanon, to the world's fair in Chicago, returned home the first of the week after a most interesting two week's visit.

Mrs. H. Nichols entertained at bridge at her home, 4308 Lee avenue, Tuesday afternoon in honor of her house guests, Miss Jane Aycock of Laurel, Miss., and Miss Dorothy Watts of Tallulah.

Following the interesting games of bridge lovely gifts were bestowed upon the high score winners and the two honor guests for remembrance.

A delicious salad course was served to Miss Aycock, Miss Watts, Mrs. Merrett Trall, Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Godfrey Williams, Mrs. A. Moore and Mrs. F. C. Reynolds.

Mrs. Mary E. Smiley and Miss Mary Pat McCollum completed a pleasant visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. McClary on St. John Drive and returned Saturday to their home in Oakland, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kiper have just returned from a most enjoyable trip to the world's fair in Chicago.

Wonderful Week of Camp Life Enjoyed by Camp Fire Girls Of Monroe and Community

Camp Fire girls have returned from Camp Ki-Ro-Li, where they spent seven blissful days with the Camp Fire creed, "Seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, glorify work, be happy," enshrined in their hearts forever.

Life in the open air as well as muscular activities, companionship and cooperation have all worked together to make one of the most successful camps ever conducted for girls. Keen appetites, a zest for swimming and a thirst for knowledge were the characteristic qualities of most of the girls, all of whom have articles of handcraft to display as a result of what they learned to make at camp. The knowledge of the woods and all out-of-doors is something of priceless value they will always possess.

Camp Fire leaders who have been interested in doing the things to further the Camp Fire work for years were present and gave the girls daily instruction in the crafts. These leaders who have been studying to perfect themselves in their chosen lines of endeavor gave painstaking and individual care in training the girls. Each evening an impressive vesper service was held at dusk, and on Friday, the last night, just as the sun slipped beyond the horizon, everyone, including the visitors, gathered around the glowing ceremonial fire to enjoy the interesting program. The girls, at this time, were awarded the honor beads for work well done. The evening's program featured solos by June and Jeane Hunt and Dorothy Kerrison of Haynesville, and Ted Scanlon. Miss Regina Moffett presented a group of girls she had trained in nature dancing, in a colorful scarf dance, and an English hornpipe dance. Mr. Sorenson, scoutmaster, accompanied each number with his accordian, heard to splendid advantage out-of-doors. After singing the songs that have gladdened the hearts of Camp Fire girls for years, the ceremonial program was brought to an impressive conclusion.

The following list shows what was accomplished by the leaders and girls:

First aid—Miss Winnie Hackworth.

Honors won in bandaging by Maurene Cob band Willsie Marie Howe. Metal work taught by Miss Mary Sanders and Mrs. Dorothy Grant. Honors were awarded to Mary Elizabeth Smith, Katherine Jones, Francis Smith, Mary Ann Wilds, Jean Mae Tucker, Virginia Earl Kersh, Ellen Hale, Margaret Mulhearn, Sibyl Renaud, Mirl Ford.

Miss Mary Sanders taught nearly everyone in camp to make a count book.

Mrs. J. G. Cobb, who taught the nature study, awarded the following honors: Making ten blue prints, Louise Hawkins, Margaret Mulhearn, Katherine Jones, Martha McHenry, Daphne Kerrison, Mirl Ford, Beverly Robertson, Bernice Worthnigton, Virginia Earl Kersh, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Frances Smith, Virginia Husted, Mary Ann Wilds, Billie Allen, Sibyl Renaud; identifying 15 trees, Beverly Robertson, Bernice Worthington, Marjorie Smith, Virginia Husted, Louise Hawkins; making 10 black prints, Katherine Jones, Louise Hawkins, Bernice Worthington, Beverly Robertson, Frances Smith, Virginia Husted, Mary Ann Wilds, Virginia Earl Kersh, Billie Allen, Sibyl Renaud, Daphne Kerrison.

Mrs. F. B. Neelley awarded honors for basketry to the following: Helen Tippit, Sally Hodge, Leona McCullom, Maurice Edwards, Annie Ola Goodwin, Mary Louise Fudicker, Esther Lee Andrews, Susan Miller, Addie Nell Rainboldt, Mary Gretchen Rainboldt, Tad Scanlon, June Hunt, Peggy Mengis, Sara Alton, O. C. Coates, Flo Savage, Johnnie Agnes Horton, Mary Ella Gladden, Mrs. C. W. Moffat, Mrs. Shillcut; for pottery, Maurene Cobb, Neva Worthington, Phyllis Rhoades, Mary Elizabeth Smith.

Mrs. Shillcut awarded honors in camp craft to the following in making rustic articles: Elizabeth Davis, Flo Savage, Marceline Hill, Willsie Marie Howe; in making bird houses, Mary Gretchen Rainboldt, Martha Hamilton, Mack Faye Hammons, Beverly Robertson.

Miss Regina Moffat's dancing class was made up of the following: Jean Mae Tucker, Daphne Kerrison, Addie Nell Rainboldt, Libby Haynes, Maurice Edwards, Louise Hawkins, Marcelina Hill, Annie Ola Goodwin, June Hunt, Jeane Hunt, Peggy Mengis, Susan Miller, Sally Hodge, Helen Tippit, Johnnie Agnes Horton, Stella Joe Gill, Mary Louise Fudicker, Mirl Ford, Dorothy Lane, Sara Alton, Frances Martin, Eunita Martin, Beverly Robertson, Phyllis Rhoades, Martha McHenry, Justine Wilson.

Miss Eileen McKinnon awarded the following Camp Fire honors: Pollywog test, Jean Mea Tucker, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Marjorie Smith, Bernice Worthington, Neeva Worthington, Mary Louise Fudicker, Dorothy Lane, Henrietta Cullom, Leona McCullom; frog test, Libby Haynes, Jean Mae Tucker, Bernice Worthington, Mary Louise Fudicker, Neva Worthington, Henrietta Cullom, Dorothy Lane, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Thelma Shillcut, Leona McCullom; fish test, Libby Haynes, Mary Louise Fudicker, Neva Worthington, Bernice Worthington, Dorothy Lane, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Susan Miller; Red Cross awards were made to the following: Senior life saver, Regina Moffat, Annie Frances Martin; junior life saver, Mary Louise Fudickar, Virginia Kersh Dorothy Lane, Eunita Martin, Mary Elizabeth Smith, Jean Tucker, Neva Worthington, Bernice Worthington, Henrietta Cullom, Libby Haynes, Leona McCullom, Thelma Shillcut, Justine Wilson, Peggy Mengis and Susan Miller; swimmers' pins were awarded the following: Flo Savage, Mack Faye Hammons, Addie Nell Rainboldt, Sally Hodge, Mirl Ford, Sibyl Renaud, Virginia Husted, while the beginners' Red Cross was awarded to Elizabeth Davis, Stella Joe Gill and Maurice Edwards.

Mrs. Charles Mitchell was manager of the camp at Ki-Ro-Li, and the following girls made late registrations: Lucy Hellen Keller, Dorothy Keller, Esther Lee Andrews, Georgia Bell Goza, Mary Lois Darcy, Nell de Lee and Sue Dickard of Monroe; Justine Wilson of West Monroe, and Miss Katherine Horton of Pine Bluff, Ark.

The White Cockatoo

by Mignon G. Eberhart

THE COCKATOO AGAIN

"OH, I didn't dream the priest was Francis. The beard and all that would have changed him. He had been educated in a church school—and well educated. He knew how to manage the—disguise. How and what to do."

After a helpless moment I said: "But what of your own half? You'll be obliged to prove yourself to his lawyer—there'll be arrangements. I think I'd better cable the lawyer immediately."

She nodded.

"Then this man calling himself Francis Tally must be actually in conspiracy with the Lovschiems. Also this charming substitute they've kept in waiting."

"Substitute?" said Sue, roused. "They have the substitute already?"

I explained.

"And the point is," I finished, "we've got to hurry." Any plan now was dangerous for Sue. Ten millions instead of five. I said:

"I'm going to call one of the policemen to stay here with you. Then I'm going to find Lorn—"

"Lorn should have known the priest was Francis!" she cried.

"He didn't. He wasn't sure about this newcomer for the same reason. And then I want you to ring for Marianne and question her. I have a faint hope that Marcel told her what he had seen. I hate letting you out of my sight, but I've got to find Lorn."

I went to the door which led to the winding stairway and thus to the courtyard. Under the swaying light of the arch stood one of our guard, and, after making sure I was unobserved, I called and beckoned to him, and once in my room he seemed to understand very sensibly what was wanted.

The corridors were as usual deserted. It was at the very door of Lorn's room that I met Grethe. She slid rather than walked out of it, closed it silently, and saw me.

"Well?" she said, and as I did not reply, she leaned nearer me and slid one smooth soft arm through mine and said: "Are you looking for me?"

I said grimly: "I'm looking for Lorn! What were you doing in his room?"

Without waiting for her reply I thrust her aside and flung open the door and looked about. The room was empty, although it looked singularly untidy. Madame Grethe was smiling a little; her green eyes were shining knowingly.

"Well?" she said again, her voice trailing upward.

"Where's Lorn?"

"Downstairs, I believe," she said coolly enough. "He was in the lobby with Lovschiem a few moments ago."

I was nearing the door to the lobby when I heard his voice, taut and sharp and strange:

"Sundean! Sundean! Hurry!"

I RAN the last few steps.

They were both in the lobby—Lovschiem and Lorn. And Lorn had a gun in his hand, and it was trained straight at Lovschiem's fat paunch, and Lovschiem was standing there just beside the desk with his jeweled hands lifted high in the air.

"You've got the revolver?"

I had it in my hand.

"Yes."

"Keep this man here while I get the police. Don't hesitate to shoot. He's the murderer."

"Lovschiem?"

"Yes. I've known it for some time, but I've got the proof now. From Marianne."

I said: "What is it?"

"His connection with Stravsky. She, the maid, heard them talking the night Stravsky was killed. They were in the court. She heard—steady, there, Lovschiem!—she heard Stravsky promise to get something for Lovschiem. Lovschiem warned Stravsky to make no mistake this time. The thing was, of course, Miss Tally's token."

"Stravsky said he'd give it to Lovschiem mañana. I'll call the police. Don't let him go, Sundean. Shoot to kill."

The door to the court whipped open and Lovschiem's terrified eyes shifted to me. This time the mumble was half coherent.

"I didn't—I'm not—I didn't—"

"What's all this?" It was Grethe from the lounge.

"They say I murdered them. They say I killed—" Lovschiem's fat, beringed hands were shaking and trembling there in the air.

"Stop that," I said sharply to Grethe, and she stopped her stealthy retreat. "Come back here. Stand over there."

She gave me a still look but obeyed. She said calmly:

"You'd as well not make a move, Lovschiem. I think our friend is rather likely to shoot us."

It was very still in the small lobby while our eyes met and locked. Very still except for the small rustle of the cockatoo scrambling from his perch to the desk. From the corner of my eyes I could see him sidle toward his mistress.

She did not move or shift her eyes from mine as the bird caught her green sleeve and pulled himself clumsily in a curious kind of hand-over-hand movement to her shoulder.

Pucci chuckled hoarsely and laid his wide bill alongside his mistress's warm red hair. But there was something wrong—something that didn't add—some quantity that was not right.

Pucci was pushing his bill into the red hair. He was pushing and pushing—no! He was pulling. He was pulling at something that was thin and white and folded and that finally came entirely from the mass of red hair. It was a thin folded paper.

Madame Grethe heard suddenly some small rustle, and she moved her head and cried, "Pucci!" in a strangled voice.

"Put down your hands, Lovschiem. Give me that paper, madame."

She did so. She did not hesitate, as I had known she would not. She took it gently and carefully from Pucci and put it in my hand.

The paper was what I thought it was.

A COMMOTION of footsteps and voices arose outside, and the door was flung open and Lorn was there. Even in that hurried instant I was conscious of the singular look he gave us: it held surprise and a kind of disappointment and at the same time decision.

Lorn pointed at me and said something very sharp, and the police fell upon me, and gripped my arms.

"So," I said above things to Lorn. "So that is the reason. You must supply them with a murderer."

"There's no use talking like that, "Sundean," said Lorn. "You can't defend yourself. They will find the poison in your room, where I found it and thus was convinced of your guilt."

I was dimly conscious that the man who had called himself Francis Tally had appeared in the doorway of the lounge.

"Madame," I said to Grethe, "ask these policemen to free my arms for a moment. I won't try to escape—I couldn't."

Then, before their eyes I brought out the envelope in which Francis Tally's last letter to his sister had been sent. And I had also a small irregular piece of wax which I had found on the landing where the body of Michael Stravsky had lain.

There was not a sound while I fitted the broken wax to the half of the seal which still remained on the envelope. The two pieces fitted exactly and made one.

I said to Lorn:

"You have killed and killed for the Tally millions."

"Take him away! Arrest him!"

"You killed Stravsky and you killed Marcel and you killed the priest. And when you killed Stravsky because you had witnessed the abduction and Sue's return and you thought Stravsky had got her token—when you killed Stravsky you broke this wax from the seal of the letter you were bringing Sue from her brother. It fell there. It's going to convict you.

"And you killed Marcel so he couldn't tell what he knew of you. And you killed the priest because you discovered he was the real Francis Tally and that he'd seen the real Sue and that spoiled your plan. You killed him, and that's where you got Sue's token, at last. Her brother had found it and taken it—perhaps to see if it matched his own. And you trapped yourself when you did that.

"That proved that there was someone else after the token. Someone besides the Lovschiems. For it was gone. Yet the Lovschiems did not have it. And it was not on the priest's body."

Grethe said in a still way: "It's true. It was in his room. I found it."

Lorn had shrunk into his brown coat; he was only shadowed eyes and chalk-yellow face, and he no longer screamed at the policemen.

In the rotagravure section of Sunday's New York Times a picture of Mr. James Butitta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Butitta was shown with other members of the chorus of the Chicago Opera company when they appeared in grand operá at the Hippodrome in New York City recently. Mr. Buttita was selected to appear in one of the tenor roles in the presentation of "Aida." Mr. Butitta left Monroe five years ago to study music in New York and since that time has been steadily gaining the heights. He has not only been successful as a tenor but in the business world as well. At the present time he is assistant buyer for the thirty-five Montgomery Ward stores in the city of New York. Those in Monroe who are following closely he musical career of this ambitious young man predict great success for him in the musical world and the business world also, if he chooses to combine the two.

Friends will be glad to know that Mr. Sam Allen is now convalescing nicely after a serious illness at his home on Jackson street.

Friends exend their sincere sympathy to Mrs. Esther Ray and Misses Mary and Margaret Lewis in the loss of their father, Mr. Albert R. Lewis, whose death occurred in New Orleans.

Mrs. W. C. Walters' birthday anniversary was the inspiration for a charming compliment planned by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Louise Lambert and son, Mr. Lloyd Walters. Upon returning home, Tuesday evening, Mrs. Walters found intimate friends assembled in the flower banked living room and laden with beautiful gifts in commemoration of her birthday. The entire evening was one of exceeding pleasure with Mr. Walters presiding at the piano accompanying the vocalists who dedicated their songs to the happy celebrant.

The cutting of the handsome birthday cake centering the beautifully appointed coffee table in the dining room was one of the outstanding features of the evening. A color theme of pink and yellow was accentuated in the serving of the delicious refreshments. Present to extend their filicitations were Mrs. W. H. Banister, Mrs. F. E. Brueck, Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Walter Beale, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mangham, Mrs. Lee Childers, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Childers, Mrs. J. T. New York Yanks Slip Back Into Tie With Washington Team

GIANTS AND BUCS IN NEAR-BATTLE ABOUT DECISION

Senators Nose Out St. Louis Browns By Score of Eight-Seven

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York's two league leading ball ubs, the Giants and the Yankees, oth are having real battles on their ands but in Wednesday's round at east they were of entirely different arieties.

While the Yanks were being shoved back into a tie with Washington's enators through the medium of an -4 defeat at the hands of the Chiago White Sox while the Senators vere nosing out the St. Louis Browns, 8-7, the Giants very nearly vent into fisticuffs with the Pittsurgh Pirates.

A disputed decision in the fourth nning of the opener, when even the impires failed to agree, caused an arument that just stopped short of a iot and delayed the game 15 mintes. The question was whether Fredy Lindstrom had caught Fred Fitzimmons' liner or not. Umpire Barr irst ruled it an out, then after a onsultation with Moran, at third, deided it was a hit and Gus Mancuso had scored the first run of the game.

Both teams joined in the dispute nd the police were kept busy for a while restraining the throng of 22,000. When things calmed down, the Bucs went on to bunch their hits behind Larry French's fine hurling and win, -1. The Giants opened up early in he second clash, scored four runs in he first frame and won, 7-3, when Carl Hubbell pitched great relief after Watson Clark had been thumped off he slab in the first inning.

The Yankees' troubles all came in he seventh inning as the Pale Hose got started after Babe Ruth muffed an easy fly and walloped Walter Brown and Wiley Moore for seven runs. The defeat ended the Yanks' nine-game winning streak.

St. Louis, under the guidance of Al Sothoron after Bill Killefer's resignation as manager Wednesday mornng, came from behind to tie the score against Washington but succumbed to three-hit, two-run rally in the ighth.

The Cleveland Indians had to go 3 innings to beat Boston's Red Sox, -7, scoring the winning run on an rror by Bob Seeds at first base, but he victory left them only a half game way from fifth place as Detroit split double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's won the opener, -3, with a five-run outburst in the hird inning, then the Tigers hammered out 18 hits and a 10-5 victory in the second clash.

The humble Cincinnati Reds shoved Brooklyn into seventh place in the National League by edging out a 6-to-5 victory. The defeat put the Dodgers a point behind the Phillies, who, with the St. Louis, Boston and Chicago Nationals, had an open date.

KILLEFER RESIGNS AS BROWNS PILOT

Sothoron Takes Charge of Club for Balance of Road Trip

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—(AP)—Bill Killefer, manager of the St. Louis Browns since 1930, Wednesday resigned, apparently as a result of the owner's dissatisfaction with the showing of the team, which is in last place in the American league.

Phil Ball, president and owner of the club, announced receipt of a telegram from Vice-President L. C. McEvoy in Washington stating Killefer had resigned, effective immediately.

Ball said Al Sothoron, coach, would take charge of the club for the remainder of the eastern trip.

Dissention between Killefer and Ball has been evident throughout the season. Ball believed Killefer was not getting out of the players the best that was in them.

Ball would not comment on reasons for the resignation and would not intimate his plans for a permanent manager.

The name of Rogers Hornsby, former Cardinal, Cub and Brave manager and now a Card player, has been mentioned in this connection. Sothoron also might be made permanent manager.

Killefer entered major league baseball in 1912 as catcher and battery mate of the great Grover Cleveland Alexander. He and Alexander went to the Cubs in 1918. Later Killefer was Cub manager for a short time. He came to the Cards in 1926 as coach and next year was transferred to the Browns as coach.

Perry Leads Qualifiers In Alabama State Meet

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 20.—(AP)—Shooting sub par golf, Sam Perry of Birmingham, former Southern amateur champion, led qualifiers Wednesday in the annual Alabama State golf tournament.

Perry shot a 70, one under par, on the difficult west course of the Birmingham Country club, and was six strokes ahead of his nearest competitor, L. P. Munger of Birmingham, with a 76.

The Birmingham Country club won the team title with Gadsden second and Tuscaloosa third.

Defending Champions Win In Tourney at Greenville

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 20.—(AP)—Five singles players and four doubles teams remained in the competition Wednesday night as semi-finals were reached in the Greenville Country club invitational tennis tournament.

Graebar of Yazoo City, and Noblin, of Jackson, defending doubles champions, Wednesday defeated Dyer, Greenville, and Collins, Meridian, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1.

Billy Simpson, Sumner, defending singles champion, defeated Elson Wiggins, Greenwood, 6-2, 6-4.

Simpson Thursday meets Collins of Meridian, Graebar the winner of the Simpson-Collins match, and Nóblin takes on Aubrey Sievers, Greenville.

In doubles, Seviers and Haynes are pitted against Graebar and Noblin, and Young and Williams will meet Wetherbee, Greenville, and Simpson, Sumner.

Monroe Tennis Team in Victory Over Rayville

RAYVILLE, July 20.—(Special.)—The Monroe tennis team swept all singles matches to win a 3 to 1 decision over the Rayville netters here Wednesday. Rayville took one doubles match when B. Lipscomb and Robinson defeated Hair and Fudickar, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

In the best match of the day Alvah Learned beat W. Hunt 6-8, 6-4, 8-6, while in the other two singles matches, Cyril Yancey won 6-0, 6-4 from Judge C. Ellis and Bunny Kennedy defeated B. Lipscomb, 6-2, 6-2.

KALLIO TO MEET COX ON WEEKLY CARD AT STADIUM

Joe Kopecky Tackles Gus Pappas in Semi-Final at Roosevelt

Gus Kallio, middleweight champion of the world, will meet Orville Cox, of Jacksonville, Fla., in the main event of tonight's wrestling card at Roosevelt stadium. In the semi-final bout, Joe Kopecky, the "Bohemian Flash", tackles Gus Pappas, New York Greek. The show will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Kallio is by far the most outstanding wrestler who has appeared here since the game was revived several months ago. He will come here today from Arcadia, which is his home. Incidentally, Kallio is Louisiana's only ring champion, now that Tony Canzoneri has been shorn of his titles.

Kallio has been visiting in Arcadia, where he recently took his mother and his orphaned niece, both of whom were brought to this country from Finland, Kallio's native land. Kallio's visit to Arcadia enabled Promoter Guy Owen to obtain his services for a show here.

While the champion undoubtedly will be the favorite against Cox, the Jacksonville veteran has demonstrated that he knows what it's all about. Cox has appeared here twice this season, beating Jack Hagen on his first trip and trimming Wild Red Berry last Thursday night. A meeting with the champion was offered the winner of the Cox-Berry affair and Cox turned the trick. Beating Berry is no small task.

Kallio is a protege of Farmer Burns, the famous old-timer having taught the champion what he knows about wrestling. Kallio won the championship in 1928, only to have the National Boxing association declare all championships vacant a few months later. In the elimination tournament that followed this decree, Kallio came through without a defeat, beatng such well known middleweights as Joe Turner, Ray Carpenter and Ralph Parcourt. Since then, the champion has met and defeated the best men in the game. He has been one of the most active champions, attracting large crowds in the bigger wrestling centers of the nation.

The Pappas-Kopecky match also should be a good one. Both principals like the rough going and the fans who want some slugging mixed in with their wrestling should be satisfied in the prelim.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with a two-hour time limit to the main event and a one-hour limit on the semi-final.

Promoter Owen said last night he hopes to get Georgie Sanders from Little Rock to referee the bouts but it not, he would have Billy Romonoff, a veteran wrestler of Jackson, as the third man in the ring. Harry Prophit will make the announcements and W. E. Lawson will be timekeeper.

U. S. TRACKMEN WIN FIRST TEST

Louisiana Star Among Winners of Events at Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, July 20.—(AP)—Led by Glenn Cunningham, the brilliant American "miler" from Kansas, the touring all-star track and field team from the United States took the lead in its first international track meet here Wednesday by winning four of the first day's five events.

Cunningham failed by only three-tenths of a second to equal the world's record for 1,000 meters as he ran that distance for the first time in his career. The Kansas ace, following the pace set by Erik Ny of Sweden most of the way, finished with a burst of speed that sent him past the tape in two minutes, 23.9 seconds. The world's record is 2:23.6, held by Jules Ladoumegue of France.

Ralph Metcalfe, negro sprinter from Marquette university, Johnny Morriss, the Louisiana hurdler, and Ivan Fuqua, Indiana middle distance star, scored the other American victories before a crowd of 14,000 that packed the old Olympic stadium to see the visitors compete against picked athletes representing eleven nations.

Metcalfe, 1932 Olympic sprint champion, set his own pace in the 100-meter dash and won in 10.4 seconds with Berger of Holland second. Morriss negotiated the 110-meter high hurdles in 14.7 seconds despite the handicap of a soft track and had an easy victory over Albrektson of Norway and Petterson of Sweden.

Fuqua also won almost as he pleased, taking the 400 meters in 48.5 seconds, finishing more than a second ahead of Knenisky of Czechoslovakia, who was second.

Henri LaBorde, weight man from Stanford university, was the only American who met defeat. He could not get the 16-pound shot out more than 44 feet, 9 3-16 inches and finished in seventh place in competition with some of Europe's greatest weight men. A. Heljasz of Holland won the event with a toss of 49 feet 11 15-16 inches while F. Douda of Czechoslovakia, holder of the unofficial world record mark of 53 feet 1 1-2 inches, took second place with a put of 49 feet 10 1-16 inches.

LIONS BEAT BASTROP

BASTROP, July 20.—(Special.) Bastrop lost its first game of the second half schedule and Oak Grove won its first encounter Wednesday as the Lions defeated the Kraftsmen 4 to 3 in a close contest.

The game was a hurling duel between Kyle and Ulmer of Bastrop and Dixon of Oak Grove, with home runs deciding the issue. Oak Grove players hit three circuit clouts to one for Bastrop. Walker, Wilcox and Kirkland hit for four bases for the Lions and C. Spencer got a homer for the local club. Each team got nine hits.

FARMERS TRIM INDIANS

FARMERVILLE, July 20.—(Special.)—Squeezing over a run in the last of the tenth inning, the Farmerville Farmers defeated Tallulah here Wednesday afternoon, 4 to 3.

Jennings led off in the tenth with a single. He went to third on Lawrence's single and scored when McClain laid down a bunt, thus ending the game.

The Farmers made 13 hits, including two home runs by Quitman Long, off Stroecker, Tallulah hurler. Mattison gave up but eight safeties, holding Tallulah scoreless for six innings.

OUACHITA VALLEY

SWARTZ BEATS ENGINEERS

The Swartz team defeated the Sterlington Engineers yesterday, 3 to 0, behind the stellar pitching of Cordell, who heled the Engineers to one hit.

Cordell was cheated out of a perfect game when King, Sterlington pitcher, got a scratch hit after two were out in the ninth inning. The Swartz pitcher made two hits in three trips to the plate.

Takewell led the hitting attack for Swartz with a double and two singles in four appearances.

Collinston plays at Swartz Sunday.

FAIRBANKS TRIMS PELICANS

Fairbanks defeated Louisiana Training institute in a Ouachita Valley league game Monday by a score of 7 to 0.

Wallace hurled airtight ball, allowing the Pelicans but five hits. The play of Stewart at third base also was a feature, the youngster handling ten chances without a bobble.

Lovelock Fails in Attack On Canadian Mile Record

HAMILTON, Ont., July 20.—(AP)—Jack Lovelock, Oxford track ace from New Zealand who made the amazing time of 4:07 6-10 for the mile at Princeton last week, failed in his attack on the Canadian mark of 4:14 Wednesday night in a dual meet between the Oxford-Cambridge team and the Hamilton Olympic club.

Running on a track wet by a heavy rain after the meet started and without a good pace setter, Lovelock was clocked in 4:17 4-10.

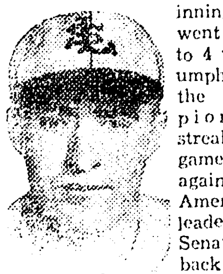
Most of Lovelock's competition came from his team mate, F. T. Horan of Cambridge, who finished second. Jack Palmer of Hamilton was third.

The Hamilton club won the meet easily, seven first places to four as Phil Edwards, Bert Pearson and Art Ravensdale won two races each. Edwards, the real star of the meet, copped the 880 then came back to win the 440 in 50 seconds.

WHITE SOX STOP YANKEES' STREAK

Chicago Wins 8 to 4; Nats and Yanks Are Again Tied for Lead

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox Wednesday broke through the New York Yankees' defense for seven runs in the seventh inning and then went on to an 8 to 4 victory, a triumph that broke the world champions' winning streak at nine games and once again knotted the American league leadership as the Senators turned back the Browns.



Red Kress

A muff of an easy fly by Babe Ruth started the Sox away on the rally. Before Wiley Moore, who relieved Walter Brown on the mound, forced Frank Grube to send a fly to Dixie Walker for the third out, Tony Lazzeri fumbled Swanson's grounder to allow the first run to cross the plate and Red Kress cleared the loaded sacks with a triple.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By Henry McLemore
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 20. — By their words ye shall know them:

Jean Borotra (French Davis-cupper): I couldn't possibly last five sets of singles on a hard court. I may even have difficulty standing up for five sets of doubles. I won't play singles for France this year unless one of the members of the team breaks a leg.

Gene Sarazen: When I saw that downhill, impossible lie in "hell's bunker" I knew my British open chances had gone glimmering. Yet, to me St. Andrews is the finest golf course in the world.

Bill Bonthron (when a friend attempted to comfort him in his loss of the mile race to Jack Lovelock by telling him he should be proud—that even though defeated he broke the world's record):

Aw nuts! I got beat didn't I?

Joe McCarthy (New York Yankees' manager when asked concerning the future of Outfielder Ben Chapman): He can't miss. He'll be the greatest player in the league in another year or so. He's got everything that goes to make a grand ball player.

Ben Chapman (when asked his highest ambition): I want to win the pennant this year so I can get my dad one of those world series rings they give the players. I promised him one and he'll be sore'n the devil unless I come through with it.

Colonel Tillinghast L'Hommedieu Huston (former owner of the Yankees and now a dirt farmer near Brunswick, Ga.): The Yankees will win by a dozen games. They are the greatest baseball outfit in the world. Ruth is the greatest player in the world. There is no argument about it.

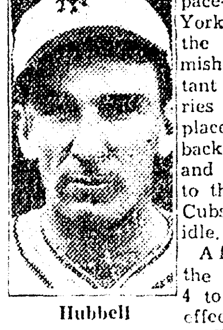
Primo Carnera (in his vaudeville act just after Comedian Herman Timberg pulled a clever gag): Why can't I say that? That's funny. Why can't I say the funny things instead of you?

Pete Bostwick (ace of gentlemen riders, millionaire, when asked if he didn't thnik his playing polo less than a month after his collar bone was fractured, was risky): Polo is a gentle game. I know of no better way to

GIANTS, PIRATES SPLIT TWO GAMES

National League Race Unchanged as Result of Double Header

PITTSBURGH, July 20.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates got nowhere in their drive for the top of the National league standings Wednesday, splitting a doubleheader with the pace-setting New York Giants to end the opening skirmish of the important six-game series still in third place, four games back of the Giants and a half-game to the rear of the Cubs, who were idle.



Hubbell

After winning the curtain raiser 4 to 1 behind the effective hurling of Larry French, the Pirates fell before the brilliant relief pitching of Carl Hubbell 7 to 3 in the nightcap.

Hubbell, entering the game after the Buccaneers had thumped Watson Clark hard in the first inning, pitched shuout ball for the remaining 8 1-3 innings.

The Giants, who had made four runs in chasing Hal Smith from the mound in their half of the initial inning, added three more off four other Pirate hurlers to give their star southpaw a good margin.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE

The Boys Accept the Job of Keeping Avis Arlen Too Busy to See Noel Alone

By ADELE GARRISON

Adele Garrison

I CAUGHT my breath in astonishment at Carolyn's bizarre request to let Avis Arlen know, after the departure of Mary and Noel, the nature of the clever ruse to foil her determination to see the bridegroom alone, which Ronald's beautiful sister had just broached.

"Oh! lovely fun!" Marion gurgled in lifelike imitation of Avis.

"Who's meowing now?" Bob demanded, and I saw that he and Ronald were still rebelling at the roles for which Carolyn's scheme was casting them.

"We are," Marion answered promptly. "And we don't care who knows it. All rules go by the board where that apology for living is concerned. She's out to do wrong by our Mary, and we're going to do her plenty. And you're going to do your share and say 'thank you'."

"It looks to me as though we were going to be the prime goats of the whole thing," Ronald grumbled, then as both his sister and Marion on whom his youthful affections are centered, whirled on him accusingly, he threw up both hands in token of surrender.

To "Rush" Avis

"But we'll go through with it, won't we, Bob?"

"Surest thing you know," Bob agreed, and I saw sparkling in his eyes the mischievous diablerie which has caused him to be dubbed by his associates as "the biggest devil in Yale." "In fact, I'm beginning to see points in this plan. There's no use making martyrs of ourselves over it old bean. We might as well get some enjoyment out of it as we go along. And the Arlen isn't altogether without charm, you know. She's not the world's wettest smack."

But Ronald was in no mood for foolery.

"She's a strong runner-up," he said viciously, and I saw Marion flash him a look of involuntary approval, while I fancied that Carolyn, though smiling broadly, had a vague look of uneasiness in her eyes.

But I had no time to linger over the temperamental vagaries of youthful sweethearts, as these four were, and I rose with an approving smile that included all of them.

"I'm leaving everything to you, now," I told them as I started for the door. "And I'm not giving you any more advice or directions, except to ask you to get hold of Bill and Hank as soon as possible. You see I shall be back here with Avis, barring accidents, in a little over two hours, so you must be ready."

"What about the rehearsal of the wedding procession?" Carolyn asked. "Do we have to wait for that sap to get here, before we put it on?"

"I don't think you'll be ready before," I said placatingly. "If you are, you may go through with it once without her, but you'll only have to do it over when she comes. We can't get out of that without being deliberately rude, you see that?"

"Of course," Carolyn said promptly, and Marion's sapient sober comment followed me out of the door.

"There's only one person to consider," she said, "Marion. She has enough with having this pest as a bridesmaid without being worried with anything else. We simply must keep the rest of this mess from her. Come on, let's get hold of Bill and Hank. You'll have to get started on your vamping program, Carol, so as to have Hank well hobbled by the time dear Avis gets here. I'll concentrate on Bill, and you two boys can think up ways to charm Avis into forgetting Noel ever existed."

An Untimely Jibe

Disgusted emphatic expletives from the two enamored youths punctuated her words, but as I went rapidly up the stairs toward my room, I knew that all four of them would do their best to foil Avis in her plan to see Noel alone, in the wild hope, I was sure, of making some final breach between the two lovers, whose wedding ceremony was now only a matter of hours.

Dicky was waiting for me in my room, a quizzical expression on his face.

"Where's the fire?" he asked. "From the way old Harry hustled me out of my room and over here, I expected at least to see you brandishing a fire ax and dragging a length of hose."

"I feel as if I were dragging an entire hook and ladder outfit," I retorted, "and so will you when I tell you what I want of you."

He struck a burlesqued attitude with folded arms.

"Shoot when you're ready," he said.

But when I had told him of the arrival of Avis Arlen at Patchogue, and my desire to have him go with me to fetch her, he looked at me with suddenly dancing eyes.

"Sure you wouldn't rather have Faithful—I mean our neighbor of The Larches?" he queried.

Musical Program Given At Kiwanis Luncheon

Musical selections featured the weekly program by the Monroe Kiwanis club, at Hotel Monroe, Wednesday noon. Two well executed piano selections were presented by Miss Dorothy Calvert, and two vocal selections by Miss Elizabeth Barnes.

Guests of the hour were E. S. Eby, secretary of the West Monroe club, and G. W. Simpson, Boy Scout executive. Each made brief talks.

The program for the forthcoming district convention to be held in Bastrop, September 3, 4 and 5, was discussed. One of the features is to be a golf tournament among delegates for which prizes will be awarded.

OIL TEST INTERESTS

HOMER, July 20.—(Special)—Much interest is being centered this week in an oil test near Lisbon, Claiborne parish, on the O. N. Meadows land, drilled by the United Gas company. Oil sand was encountered at a depth of 6,600 feet but a successful test has not been completed due to trouble with the drill stem which will be adjusted in a few days.

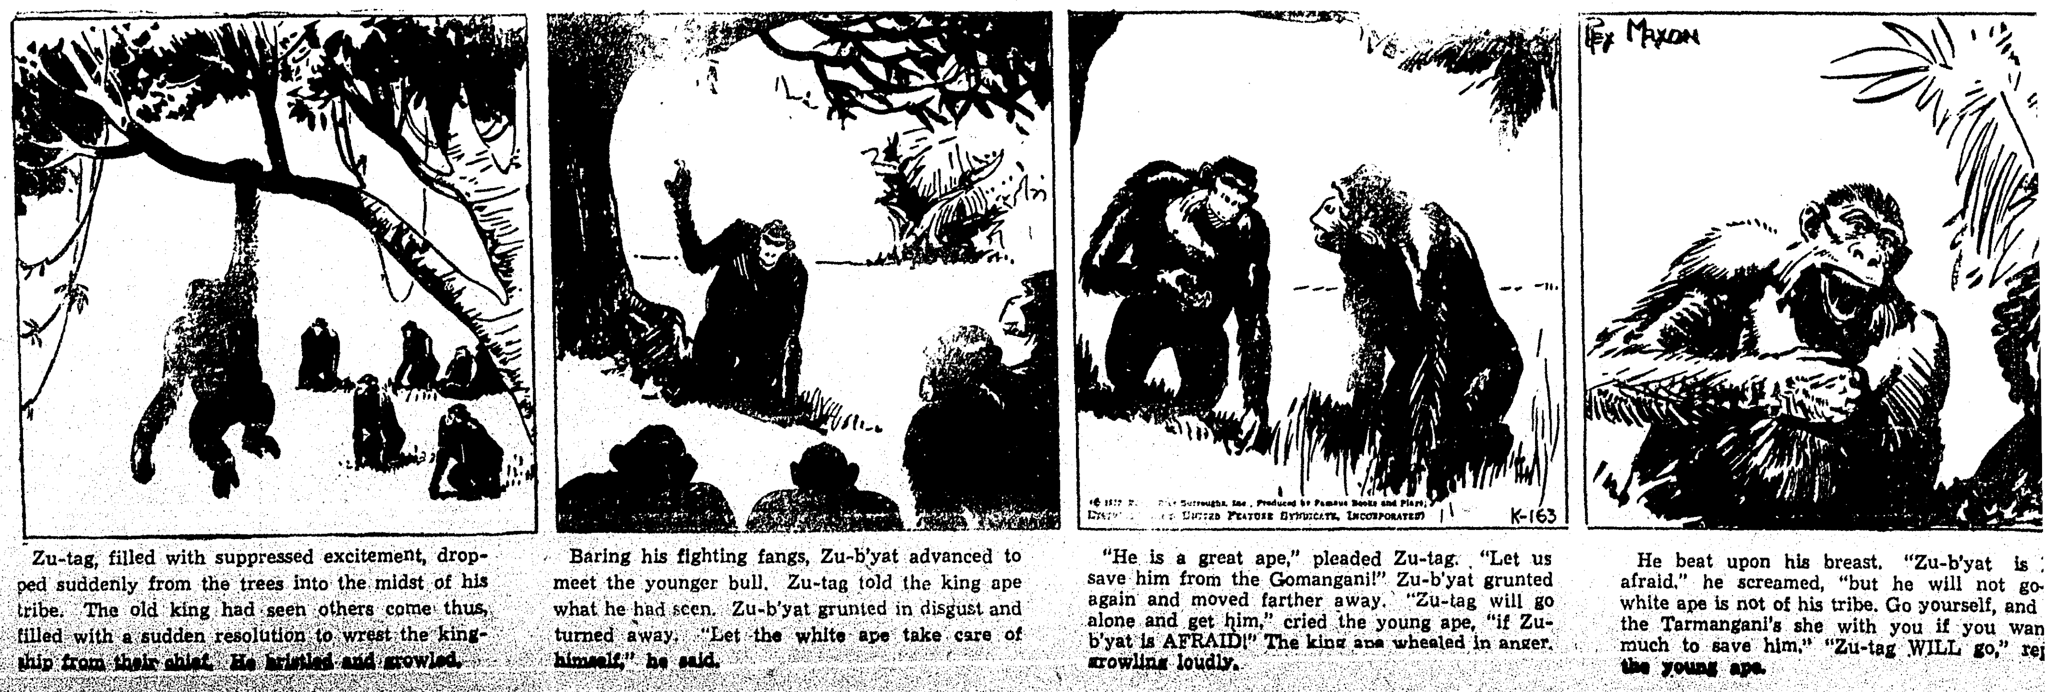
TARZAN THE UNTAMED

—By Edgar Rice Burrou



REX MAXON

Zu-tag, filled with suppressed excitement, dropped suddenly from the trees into the midst of his tribe. The old king had seen others come thus, filled with a sudden resolution to wrest the kingship from their chief. He bristled and growled.

Baring his fighting fangs, Zu-b'yat advanced to meet the younger bull. Zu-tag told the king ape what he had seen. Zu-b'yat grunted in disgust and turned away. "Let the white ape take care of himself," he said.

"He is a great ape," pleaded Zu-tag. "Let us save him from the Gomangani!" Zu-b'yat grunted again and moved farther away. "Zu-tag will go alone and get him," cried the young ape, "if Zu-b'yat is AFRAID!" The king ape wheeled in anger, growling loudly.

He beat upon his breast. "Zu-b'yat is afraid," he screamed, "but he will not go white ape is not of his tribe. Go yourself, and the Tarmangani's she with you if you wan much to save him." "Zu-tag WILL go," re the young ape.

Cotton

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—The cotton market in a feverishly active and nervous session, developed a sweeping downward tendency Thursday. The decline by early afternoon amounted to $5.50 a bale. This sharp break was due primarily to further declines in wheat which started heavy liquidation in cotton, uncovering a vast number of stop loss orders.

Following an early decline of 15 points due to easier cables and a sharp drop in sterling, the market rallied on early firmness in stocks and on good trade buying. October advanced to 11.52 and December to 11.71, a recovery of 22 to 24 points from the early lows and a net gain of 7 to 8 points over Wednesday's close.

Later in the morning prices broke sharply on a drop in wheat and easier stocks. Stop loss orders were freely uncovered and before mid-session October dropped to 11.20 and December to 11.39, down 32 points from the earlier highs and 23 to 25 points under the previous close.

In the early afternoon, the market broke further on heavy liquidation of old contracts and continued uncovering of stop-losses. October fell to 10.32 and December to 10.55, down 116 to 120 points from the early highs and 109 to 111 points under Wednesday's close.

Following the extreme decline of the early afternoon the market was erratic and nervous recovering 30 points at times, only to ease again. The close, however, was somewhat steadier on short covering, about 34 to 36 points up from the lows and showing net declines for the day of 70 to 75 points.

Exports for the day were 24,127 bales.

Cotton futures closed steady at net decline of 70 to 75 points.

New York

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—A sensationally rapid break over a cent a pound occurred in cotton Thursday under heavy liquidation attributed to the weakness in wheat and apprehensions that buying power was not developing rapidly enough to sustain higher price levels.

December contracts, which were selling around 11.72 at midday, broke to 10.60 during the early afternoon under selling orders which appeared to be pouring into the market from all directions, making a decline of $8.00 per bale from the high price of last Tuesday. Offerings subsided somewhat at this level and there were rallies on covering, but the market was still nervous and unsettled during the middle of the afternoon with active months showing net losses of about 70 to 75 points.

Futures closed barely steady, 72-80 lower. Spot quiet; middling 10.55.

CHICAGO. — Wheat excitedly lower; panicky selling. Corn weak; following wheat. Cattle firm to higher, best steers held above $7.50. Hogs steady to 10 lower, top $4.75.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—In wildly tumultuous trading, wheat Thursday started unchanged to five cents lower, and then rallied to Wednesday's closing figures. Buying on setbacks was based largely on assertions of trade leaders that Wednesday's drastic fall of prices had to a great extent corrected overbought market conditions.

Opening unchanged to five cents off, wheat quickly declined all around, but almost at once began to climb upward fast. Corn started 3-4 to 2 1-4 lower, and then advanced swiftly to well above the previous day's last quotation.

Wheat closed excited, at prices ranging from the days' bottom figures to 3 1-4 cents above, last quotations were 12 to 16 cents under Wednesday's finish for wheat, with corn 11 3-4 to 14 1-4 down, oats 6 5-8 to 8 1-2 off and provisions showing 35 to $1.05 decline.

WALLACE WILL ATTEND EVENT

Secretary of Agriculture Will Visit Experiment Station

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 20.—(AP)—Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, has accepted an invitation to attend the annual Delta day at the Stoneville, Miss., delta experiment station either on August 8 or August 15, it was announced here by W. E. Ayers, director of the station.

Ayers said he was informed of the secretary's acceptance of the invitation to deliver the principal address at the celebration by Oscar Johnson of Scott, Miss., who is now serving in Washington as financial director of the agricultural adjustment administration

Johnson said in his letter to Ayers that the secretary welcomed the opportunity to visit one of the nation's greatest cotton-growing regions. Ayers said the program would be held on August 8 or 15, whichever was more convenient to the secretary.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Stocks plunged downward in thick clouds of gloom Thursday as grains and cotton suffered their worst collapse of the year and the dollar soared in foreign exchange markets. There was a moderate come-back in the morning and in the last hour, but the close was weak. General losses ranged from 2 to 10 points with some of the alcohols off 7 to more than 20. transfers approximated 8,120,000 shares.

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Financial markets tried to steady Thursday, after the sharp relapse of Wednesday, but nervous twinges added considerable uncertainty to the attempted convalescence.

After some irregularity in the early hours, most of the badly battered stocks of the previous session rallied 1 to around 3 points. Even the weak alcohols attempted a mild come-back. Although they again turned heavy afternoon and other groups sympathetically cancelled most of their early advances or replaced them with losses The principal grains sagged, rallied, and then dropped sharply, wheat getting below $1 a bushel. Cotton was easier as were silver futures. The dollar turned upward in foreign exchange markets, gaining nearly 10 cents against the pound sterling at one time. Bonds were irregular.

The so-called "wet" shares that added some 4 to 14 points to their previous slump included American Commercial Alcohol, National Distillers, Commercial Solvents, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, and Crown Cork. Declines of 1 to 3 or more were eventually suffered by Du Pont, Case, Union Pacific, U. S. Steel, United Aircraft and Goodyear. Alaska Juneau, U. S. Smelting, Santa Fe, Johns-Manville, and a number of others were up 1 to about 3 before easing with the rest of the market.

Some of Thursday's early recoveries in stocks were attributed to covering by several operators who went "short" at the beginning of Wednesday's tumble. Market observers pointed out that, just prior to Wednesday, active bears were few and difficult to find. With the first indications of a corrective movement, these came out from hiding and cashed in sizeable profits around the opening.

Along with the caution engendered by the recent wild advance of stocks and commodities, various merchandising associations are reported to have sounded mild warnings against a too sudden rise in retail prices. It was said the public, thus far, has received moderate increases without expressing any serious objections. At the same time, efforts are being made to keep advances within bounds.

A sharp rally of the dollar in relation to foreign currencies especially the British pound sterling, was attracted by bankers here partly to the announcement of a conversion offer for the United Kingdom 5 1-2 per cent gold bonds. The conversion plan, it was explained, brought an increase in arbitrage business. Dealers said there was little evidence of official intervention in either the pound or French franc rates.

ORDERS CHANGES IN ROAD BOARDS

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Several states may have to reorganize highway departments before they can get any of the $400,000,000 road fund set aside in the $3,300,000,000 public works program.

This warning came Thursday from Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, who is directly responsible for administration of the road funds.

"In some cases," he said, "there has been a diversion of revenue from its intended purposes."

Already Kentucky has received notice that there must be a realignment of its highway administration, and MacDonald said similar word may soon go to other states.

Officials of the roads bureau said Georgia's allotment was being withheld because of the controversy between Governor Talmadge of that state and the highway department, and that it would not be advanced until there was a decision as to "who is the highway department."

LETTER CARRIERS TO ATTEND MEET HELD IN MONROE

Sessions to Be Held Here On Friday and Saturday

The advance guard of members of the Louisiana Rural Letter Carriers' association are expected to arrive in Monroe Thursday night, preparatory for the holding of a two days' convention here on Friday and Saturday. Many cities and towns of Louisiana will be represented and the headquarters will be Hotel Frances. A year ago, when a similar convention was conducted, the registration reached nearly 200 people. It is thought that a large number will come to Monroe, but the exact number to be expected was not definitely determined by Thursday noon.

Arrangements have been completed with much care by a special committee in charge. Of this committee, James R. Wooten, acting postmaster of Monroe, was named honorary chairman. Other members of the committee are: Acting chairman, O. W. Wolff, with the following members: C. E. Ponder, W. S. Buckley, and E. R. Higgerson.

Registrations will be in order Friday morning at Hotel Frances and a boat ride is planned at 4:30 p. m. on the same day. At 7:30 p. m. there is to be a banquet and ball at Hotel Frances.

The business sessions are to be held at 10:00 a. m. Friday on the Cherokee terrace and again at the same place on Saturday morning and afternoon.

At the closing session, the newly-elected officers are to be installed.

NAZIS ARE AFTER SOCIALIST FUNDS

German Police Try to Find Who Have Foreign Bank Accounts

BERLIN, July 20.—(AP)—In an endeavor to find marxist parties' funds and to ascertain who have foreign bank accounts, police officials advertised Thursday that a reward would be given persons divulging such information.

The move is preliminary to the confiscation of the sums as provided for in a cabinet decree issued last week ordering the seizure of private fortunes and even citizenship rights of "enemies of the state and the people."

The advertisements referred principally to a socialist war chest which, it was apparent from the plea to the public, has evaded the best efforts to find it.

The decree, probably the strongest weapon yet placed at the disposal of Nazi officials, only legalized methods—so far as political parties are concerned—which long had been used.

In view of the government's flood of complaints about ancestry, hundreds of thousands of citizens are expected to take advantage of the reward offers to vent private grudges, secretly and perhaps groundlessly, and get the police after the "foreign fortunes."

How great or small such holdings are cannot be estimated, particularly those of exporters and manufacturers with foreign branches.

Holders of foreign securities and banknotes have been ordered to register them at the Reichsbank before August 31. Failure to do so will be interpreted as "economic treason."

An increase by 20,000,000 marks ($6,-800,000) in the Reichsbank's amounts of gold is seen as the repatriation of some foreign holdings, although the moratorium and foreign exchanges and gold payments from Soviet Russia served to swell the account.

The government, lest it tred on toes of foreign governments, has ordered the minister of the interior to confer with the foreign officer before voiding the citizenships of those who defied an order to return from foreign countries because of government enmity.

BULLETS POURED IN LITTLE SALOON

One Killed and Three Wounded In Raids Upon Chicago Place

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—For two successive days now gangsters have poured bullets into a little saloon in "little Italy" on the west side, leaving one man dead, three wounded and endangering the lives of children and passersby.

After Wednesday's attack in which Frank Tiritilli, an iceman, was wounded, Clemento Cozzi, the proprietor said he knew of no reason for the attacks but police were investigating a reported break in leadership of factions of the notorious "42" gang.

Police also said they were seeking Mike De Stefano, whose most recent conviction was upon a charge of setting fire to a police squad car while it was parked in front of a station.

Both times the gunmen, riding in an automobile, have circled the block three times. Wednesday the car suddenly halted as six pistols went into action. Cozzi dropped to the floor as did two cousins, one a policeman, and escaped the whizzing bullets.

The day before Emil Onesto was slain as he stood in front of the place Saturday at 1139 Taylor street. The machine sped on and two men, who went to his rescue were wounded when it suddenly reappeared.

Federal Intervention In Bridge Row Expected

NEW ORLEANS, July 20—(AP)—Federal intervention in the Mississippi river bridge strike here was expected Thursday with the scheduled arrival of Commissioner Thomas Hyland of the conciliation bureau of the department of labor, who will act as intermediary between the bridge contractors and the workers, who are asking for a general wage increase.

Meanwhile, the workers continued peaceful picketing at the bridge site They quit work last Monday.

ATTORNEY-JURY TRUCE INDICATED

Five Murder Indictments Returned By Orleans Inquisitors

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—A partial truce between District Attorney Eugene Stanley and the Orleans parish grand jury which Stanley recently repudiated, was indicated here as the grand jury returned five murder indictments after conferring with Stanley and his associates.

One of the indictments was against Mrs. Albert Busha, also known as Lou O'Neal, charged with the slaying of Gus Tomes, alias Dutch Gardner, notorious pardoned convict of New Orleans. Tomes was shot to death a week ago in the apartment which police said he occupied jointly with Mrs. Busha. The other indictments involved negro slayings.

After returning the bills, the jury examined a so-called "iron claw," described as an instrument used by police in subduing fractious prisoners, and also accompanied an assistant district attorney to a private showing of an alleged immoral motion picture recently confiscated by police.

Stanley openly broke with the grand jury several weeks ago when the jury unsuccessfully tried to return a "no true bill" in the Orleans ballot box investigation and also attempted to take over a local banking investigation which the district attorney had previously started in open court. The jury subsequently drew down on the banking inquiry, leaving the matter in Stanley's hands.

Dixie Man Is Convicted Of Involuntary Homicide

BATON ROUGE, La., July 20.—(AP)—Conviction of involuntary homicide was recorded Thursday in district court against Guy Kelley of Dixie, a suburb, in connection with the killing of Boyd McAdams, 11, several months ago by a car driven by Kelley.

The prosecution contended Kelley had been drinking before the accident. The defendant claimed he could not avoid striking the boy.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANNA M'CAFFREY

TALLULAH, July 20.—(Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Berryhill McCaffrey, who died at a Shreveport hospital Monday night, after an illness of one week, were held from Trinity Episcopal church here this afternoon at 2:30, the Rev. David E. Holt performing the last rites. Burial was in Silver Cross cemetery here.

Mrs. McCaffrey had for a number of years resided at Hermeone plantation near here and in Tallulah. She was a member of the Episcopal church and had a host of friends in this community. She is survived by her husband, Frank D. McCaffrey, three sisters, Mrs. Isaac Deutsche, of Davenport, Iowa; Mrs. Charles Davidson, of Summit, N. J., and Mrs. Fred B. White, of Philadelphia, Pa., and one brother, John Berryhill, of Oenehill N. J.

MIX FUNERAL

The funeral of R. A. Mix, 47, interior decorator, who died of a heart attack while walking to his work shortly before noon Wednesday, was held at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning at his home, at 614 North Fourth street. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated. Interment was in Riverview Burial park.

Mr. Mix was a native of Vicksburg. Although an interior decorator by trade, he was employed at the Midway pool hall, 227 DeSiard street at the time of his death.

He leaves his widow and an aunt, Mrs. W. H. Giddens of Newton, Miss.

GOOD WAGES—Are you seeking a place to learn a trade? Are you anxious to work and earn a good wage? Here is the answer. The old apprenticeship method was discarded years ago. Trade schools now prepare workmen for many lines of industry, saving the entrants years of time to advance in the industrial field which will within a very short period of time be seeking new, young blood for its factories. The printing industry offers splendid opportunities. The outstanding school for this industry is located at Nashville, Tennessee. For full information, terms and catalog, address Director V. C. Garriott, Southern School of Printing, 1514-16 South Street, Nashville, Tenn.

POLICE OF MONROE ASKED TO AID IN KIDNAPING CASE

Reward of $2,750 Is to Be Given For Capture In Ottley Case

Local police have been asked to lend assistance in the search for one of the kidnapers of John K. Ottley, president of the First National Bank of Atlanta, Ga., who was kidnaped while leaving his home in that city on July 6. He later escaped from his captors.

One of the men wanted by the police has been apprehended, but the other is at large and it is thought that he may be in this section of the state.

The communication requesting aid in the search, and for which a reward for capture of $2,750 is to be given, was received by Travis Oliver, president of the Central Savings Bank and Trust company of Monroe. The latter promptly turned over the letter containing the request to L. V. Tarver, superintendent of Monroe police.

FAMOUS HOOVER ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY AT DANCES

Hotel Virginia Brings Well Known Group Here From North

Max Hoover and his snappy orchestra, direct from Geauga lake in Cleveland, has been engaged to play for an indefinite time on the roof of Hotel Virginia. They also give concerts in the hotel lobby.

This orchestra is regarded one of the very best to be obtained and its past performances have been such as to have established its reputation, stated the management of Hotel Virginia.

Among the places where the orchestra has played for extended periods, are the following: Everglades club, New York city, five weeks; Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa., seven weeks; Dells club, Wheeling, W. Va., 14 weeks, Hotel Holt, Wichita Falls, Tex.

Plans are being made for the dance on the roof of Hotel Virginia on Saturday night when it is expected that there will be a large attendance to enjoy the first class musical program prepared by the Hoover orchestra.

YOUNG GENERATION TERMED IN REVOLT UPON HYPOCRITES

Lack of individual moral stamina was blamed to a large degree for the recent depression by Rev. Thomas F. Jett, pastor of the First Christian church, in an address to the Y's Men's club, Hotel Frances, Wednesday night. He said that the older generation was to blame to a large degree and that the present generation is in revolt against hypocrisy.

Before casting one's self into the life he plans to live, however, he should examine himself critically to rid himself of his faults, Rev. Jett said. Making the observation that the present generation was thinking for itself, the speaker suggested that thought be applied rather than misapplied.

The day of prayer advocated by William Randolph Hearst, nationally known publisher, and carried out by the churches of the nation last May, was pointed to as an event of first importance by Rev. Jett. He said it was the first time in the history of the nation that the churches of the United States had been requested to unite in praying for divine guidance for the president.

Another significant event, in the opinion of the speaker, was the attendance of church on inauguration day by President Roosevelt. In seeking spiritual fortification, the chief executive manifested the sincerity with which he faced the seemingly insurmountable problems confronting the nation, Rev. Jett stated.

SPECTACULAR FIRE RAZES BUILDING

Warehouse of Johnson Service Station Is Destroyed

In a most spectacular fire, the first to occur here since June 26 last, the warehouse of the Johnson service station at North Ninth and Olive streets, was destroyed by fire Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. Fire inspectors were checking up the loss entailed Thursday, but were not able to make same public as yet.

Companies one, two, three, four, six and eight of the local fire department answered the alarm. While the warehouse was doomed from the outset, the spread of flames to other nearby buildings was prevented.

Several tanks of oil located nearby, the property of the Louisiana Oil and Refining company, were threatened before firemen brought the blaze under control.

FIND BILOXI GIRL IN NARCOTIC DIVE

Orleans Police Place Woman and Man Under Arrest In Case

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—Ina Byrd, 13, who last Thursday ran away from her Biloxi, Miss., home and was found by police Wednesday in what they described as a "narcotic den," was being held here Thursday pending her return to her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Leny, of North Biloxi.

The girl told police that she had been held captive behind locked doors and windows since she came here on a freight train with Josephine Farham, 15, also of Biloxi, and Lottie Richards, 16, whose address she did not know.

She said that when her two companions continued toward California, two men stopped her on the street and told her they would give her a home until she decided what to do. She said they took her to the house and held her prisoner, but did not harm her.

Police arrested Harold Lucas, 24, and Mrs. Henry Cockmeyer, 26, who said they occupied the house, and charged them with possessing narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.
